THE wife of General Ludendorff tells a great audience in Berlin that "Free Masons conspired with Jesuits and Jews to control Germany and the whole world."

Frau Ludendorff has another new idea. Christianity, she says, can't protect Germany from the Free Mason-Jesuit-Jewish combination. Therefore, Germany should go back to the old Nibelungen religion, with solemn Wotan, irritable Fricka, fertile Erda and the rest. The speech was enthusiastically applauded, which shows that you can find believers for anything if you try it seriously.

INDUSTRY AT STANDSTILL AS STRIKE BEGINS

Suspension Follows Failure of Union Leaders and Operators To Agree

OHIO MINES STOP

New Wage Conference Scheduled To Be Held in Columbus Next Week

Chicago, April 1—Soft coal mining in the unionized central competitive field was at a standstill today as 150,000 United Mine Workers suspended work.

The suspension followed failure of union leaders and the operators to agree on a wage scale to replace the Jacksonville contract, providing a basic daily wage of $7.50, which expired at midnight.

Mines producing some 168,000,000 tons annually in western Pennsylvania, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois and eastern Iowa were affected.

The extent to which operators availed themselves of the union offer to continue operations by paying the Jacksonville scale, pending the drafting of a new contract, was widely disputed today.

First Since 1922

Union leaders claimed the area was honeycombed with mines running full blast. Operators, admitting there had been defections from their ranks, maintained the number was small.

Today's suspension was the first great lay-off of unionized soft coal miners since April 1, 1922, when 600,000 United Mine Workers walked off their jobs.

The strike, which embraced both bituminous and anthracite miners, was settled the following August.

The highlight of that contract was reached when 19 non-union and three union miners lost their lives in the tragic Herrin, Ill., massacre.

Little of the bitterness which marked the 1922 strike was apparent today as both sides settled down to what may develop into an extended suspension.

Little Hope of Compromise

There was slight evidence of an early compromise. The operators say they cannot afford to pay the Jacksonville scale and live in competition with non-union West Virginia and Kentucky fields, where lower wages prevail. The union insists that scale is the lowest it can accept.

Since the break-up of the Miami conference, where operators and miners sought to iron out their differences, there has been no open attempt at compromise.

The operators say the miners should enter a conference with the understanding that a lower wage will be acceptable. This position is unacceptable to the miners. Both sides today were in the position of Achilles, sulking in his tent.

Because the regular summer letup in mining is about due anyway, neither operators nor miners were expected to feel the effects of the suspension for several months.

Coal Stock Angle

Stocks of coal on hand were declared ample and bank deposits in many mine areas were reported to be unusually heavy, indicating the miners have anticipated the crisis.

Both sides agree that back of the trouble is the increasingly severe competition of the non-union fields.

The operators want the unions to accept a cut to meet this competition. The unions say that if they met the cut there would be no assurance West Virginia and Kentucky operators would not again reduce wages.

Non-union fields ship approximately 70 per cent of the soft coal. A few years ago the unions controlled 70 per cent of the output.

Although many large operators would welcome a break-up of the United Mine Workers, Rice Miller, president of the Coal Operators Association of Illinois, declared today no attempt would be made to man mines controlled by his organization, with non-union labor.

OHIO BITUMINOUS MINES ARE IDLE

Columbus, Apr. 1—Ohio bituminous mine fields were idle today, with the exception of about 15 small auxiliary mines, as the walkout order of the United Mine Workers, long-heralded, became effective at midnight.

A ray of hope, however, for the early termination of the suspension was seen in the overtures which have been made by both the miners and the Ohio Coal Operators' Association for a resumption of negotiating for a wage agreement.

Union miners of Ohio have accepted the invitation of the Ohio Coal Operators' Association for a joint wage conference to be held in Columbus at 2 p. m. April 7, Lee Hall, president of District No. 6, United Mine Workers, announced at Cambridge today.

Hall's announcement was made immediately after he had received the telegraphed invitation from the operators, sent from their session at Toledo late yesterday.

Paris, Apr. 1—Spain has called upon France for aid in suppressing the rebellion of Moroccan tribesmen which is now in progress and France has agreed to give aid, it was announced by the foreign office today.

U.S. PROCEEDING CAUTIOUSLY IN CHINESE CHAOS

Coolidge Resists Pressure To Have Nation Join with Great Britain

Washington, Apr. 1 — "Trouble ahead. Proceed cautiously." That, in the parlance of the road, rather accurately described the attitude of the American government today in the critical Chinese situation, and there is every indication that it will continue to be the guidepost of the administration.

President Coolidge thus far has resisted the strongest pressure to have the United States join with Great Britain and make a common diplomatic cause of the Nanking incident, which cost a number of foreign lives. This pressure has been applied with enormous force from London and from American commercial interests in China.

It is probable, however, that the United States will join with Great Britain and the other powers in protesting the Nanking outrage—although it is not likely this government will go as far as Britain wants to go. The British want to make the protest to the Cantonese Nationalists a virtual ultimatum, with demands for indemnities, and a threat of sanctions if they are refused, or if there is a repetition of the affair.

Won't Send Ultimatum

This is considerably further than the American government evidently is willing to go. Individually, a protest already has been lodged with the Nationalists by this government, and at the proper time, when investigation has developed the actual facts and responsibility, indemnity will be demanded for American lives and property lost in the rioting.

Neither President Coolidge nor Secretary of State Kellogg believe, however, that anything can be gained at this time by sending ultimatums to the Cantonese, and threatening to thrash them. To do so, they believe, will only tend to increase the anti-foreign sentiment now spreading over China like a prairie fire, and perhaps lead to incidents that will make that at Nanking appear trivial.

British belligerence in the present situation is recognized here as being dictated by Britain's enormous stake in China, and in nearby India, which already has begun to show symptoms of being infected with the nationalistic

BRITAIN READY TO TAKE SANCTIONS IN CHINA

Majority of Cabinet Said To Favor Strict Blockade of All Ports

London, April 1—Great Britain is prepared to take sanctions in China if the Nationalists fail to make proper reparations for the Nanking outrages, it was learned today.

The majority of the cabinet favors a strict blockade of all Chinese ports, but the admiralty has recommended that all of the Yangtze River as far as Hankow be taken over, it is learned in authoritative circles.

While Great Britain is prepared to act alone in this matter of sanctions, there still are hopes that the United States and Japan will join.

DE PINEDO POSTPONES HIS FLIGHT TO COAST

New Orleans, La., Apr. 1—Commander Francesco De Pinedo, Italian aviator, making a tour of four continents, postponed his flight to San Francisco another 24 hours today because of the slight indisposition of one of his crew.

He will hop off early tomorrow and will make only two stops between here and San Diego, at San Antonio and Hot Springs.

EMERGENCY MEASURE IS INTRODUCED IN HOUSE

Columbus, Apr. 1—Rep. C. H. Jones, Jackson County, today introduced an emergency measure, a bill authorizing boards of education to borrow money in anticipation of funds to be received from the state educational equalization fund. This money is to be borrowed through the issuance of notes, which the state teachers' retirement system would be authorized to purchase.

STABS MOTHER TO DEATH FOR SECOND MARRIAGE

Eleven-Year-Old Sister of "Dream-Crazed" Youth Witness to Murder

Providence R. I., Apr. 1—With a vision of his dead father in a dream prompting him, he said, Preston H. Bell, 23, arose from bed early today determined to take the life of his mother because she had married a second time.

Creeping into her bedroom, young Bell stabbed his mother several times with a four-inch pocket knife.

She fought with him and struggled into the hallway. There in the presence of his 11-year-old half-sister, Lillian Sullivan, the alleged "dream-crazed youth completed his horrible task.

The mother, Mrs. Ella Roberts Bell Sullivan, fell to the floor dead.

Cries of the struggling mother, fighting for her life against her own son, mingled with those of her little daughter and police were summoned. Bell was arrested.

FIRE LOSS HERE SINCE JAN. 1 TOTALS $7,250

Chief's Report Shows Toll for Same Period in 1926 Was $42,755

Marion was unusually fortunate in respect to fire damage during January, February and March, the three-month period which ordinarily brings the heaviest property loss of the year from this cause.

The fire loss in this city during the last three months amounted to only $7,250, figures obtained from Fire Chief McFarland showed today. During the same months last year, the loss here amounted to $42,755. The largest item in this total resulted from a fire at the Boyer Elevator on Park-blvd in March, the damage there amounting to $30,000.

Firemen here answered 78 calls in the first three months of last year and 59 this year.

The largest part of this difference for the three months is found in the March record, Chief McFarland's report discloses. Last month the firemen made 18 runs and the total fire loss was only $675. In March of last year the department was called out 28 times and the loss was $40,253, which included the Boyer fire.

Seven of the 18 calls received last month were due to chimney fires, the damage from which was small.

Statistics covering a period of years show that fire does its greatest damage during January, February and March, this being due mainly to the fact that furnaces and stoves are then going full blast. Defective flues and chimneys contribute largely to the three-month toll.

JOINT RESOLUTIONS ARE REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

Columbus, Apr. 1—The house today referred to the house rules committee joint resolutions by Rep. C. F. Knapp, Medina County, providing for appointment of a committee to cooperate in the erection of the buildings for the new state institution for feeble-minded at Apple Creek, Wayne County, and Rep. C. M. Emery, Pike County declaring an emergency, and authorizing boards of education to borrow money in state and school districts to pay teachers salaries in anticipation of state and county due from the state

County-City Building Is Planned on Prospect-Church-st Corner

Sale of the Marion County Courthouse and the land on which it stands at Main and Center-sts and the erection of a 15-story skyscraper on that site were announced today in dispatches from New York telling of approval of plans for financing the skyscraper project.

Confirmation was given the sale locally by announcement that plans were under way for a city-county building, to be erected on the present city owned lot at Church and Prospect-sts. This city-county building, it is understood, is to be five story, modern office building structure. The ground floor is to have a large entrance lobby, and the top floor is to be given over to spacious court rooms, to house both city and county courts. All other city and county departments are to be housed in this building.

For Details

While only a few details of the proposed 15 story skyscraper at Main and Center-st, could be learned today, it is known definitely that it will occupy the entire space now taken up by the courthouse and grounds, and that the trees now spaced about the flagging will soon be transplanted to an estate near Cleveland.

It was also mentioned in the wire despatches from New York that theater men were among the financiers interested in the new building, but whether or not the new building will have theater facilities was not stated. Recreation facilities will include a gymnasium on one floor, bowling alleys in the basement and a convertible summer-winter dance hall on the roof.

The first floor of the new skyscraper and probably one or two above the first

ANOTHER ARRESTED IN WAR ON PUNCH BOARDS

Proprietor of Union Station Hotel Charged with Operating Gambling Device

Following orders issued by Chief of Police Thompson placing a ban on operation of punch boards in the city, an affidavit was filed yesterday against T. J. Ballinger, proprietor of the Union Station hotel, charging him with having a gambling device at his place of business. The device, according to police reports, was a punch board.

The filing of this affidavit followed arrest of John Sacked, proprietor of a pool-room and restaurant at 138 S. Main-st, on a similar charge.

Both Sacked and Ballinger are to be given hearings in Municipal Court.

MARCH RECORD MONTH IN CITY BUILDING WORK

Eight Permits Issued for Homes; Cost Estimates Total $35,065, Report

Building activities in Marion for 1927 are now well under way, according to a summary of building permits issued from the office of the City Clerk during March. There were 58 permits for building construction estimated to cost $35,065 the highest month's total since early last fall.

In February there were only 18 permits covering construction cost amounting to only about a seventh of last month's total.

The 58 permits in March included eight for new dwellings estimated to cost $10,050, one commercial garage, $500, a new greenhouse to be built on E. Church-sts by Aaron Goerlich, for ... ist $4,000, another greenhouse on Pennsylvania-av planned by Mrs. Alice Brown, $750, and a number of additions and improvements to dwellings.

The list also included permits for 25 garages.

Mills May Take Advantage of Situation and Visit Prison

Columbus, Apr. 1—Unless the supreme court acts quickly on the request of E. C. Turner, attorney general, for a stay of execution of a mandatory injunction by the court of appeals of Franklin County, giving Everett L. Mills, Canton attorney, counsel for Patrick Eugene McDermott, the right to see and confer in private in the Ohio Penitentiary with the convicted slayer of Don H. Mellett, Mills may take advantage of the situation, and present himself at the penitentiary.

Whether or not Mills will make the move was to be decided in a conference with Knepper and Wilcox, D. W. Dempsey, and B. B. Bridge, his attorneys, following a hearing in supreme court today, on a motion by the attorney general for a review of the decision of the court of appeals, granting the Canton attorney permission to see his client, privately.

Joseph A. Godown, assistant attorney general, argued the motion on behalf of Warden P. E. Thomas of the penitentiary before the supreme court today. At the very outset, the court sought information on the question of whether there was agreement of opposing counsel on the point of whether constitutional questions are involved. Informed that counsel is in accord, the court ordered the argument continued and the decision on the motion will include finding on the merits of the case.

FERDINAND OF ROUMANIA NEAR DEATH, REPORT

Suffers Grippe, Together with Complication of Bronchial Catarrh and Cancer

Belgrade, Apr. 1—The condition of King Ferdinand has become desperate as pneumonia developed, according to reports current here today. Wild rumors about plans for the succession to the throne are afloat.

Berlin, April 1—The death of King Ferdinand of Roumania is expected momentarily, the International News Service has learned from a usually reliable source.

The Roumanian censor has stopped all telegraphic information concerning the king's health. A Roumanian embassy here denies that King Ferdinand is on the verge of death but admits that an official message from Bucharest states that the king's condition is serious. This message states that the grippe, from which the king is suffering, has become more acute and is complicated by bronchial catarrh.

During the night communication between Vienna and Bucharest were cut off without explanation. The last reports, however, stated that the condition of the king was grave as his physicians were unable to check the grippe and his physical condition was greatly weakened.

Reports received here state that physicians have been constantly at the bedside of the king for the last two days and one of the king's physicians is reported to have stated that there was little chance of the king rallying sufficient strength to throw off the grippe.

The cancerous infections from which the king suffers have made steady progress despite radium treatments, and it is reported that it also has reached a dangerous stage.

Cut Communications

Belgrade reports that communications with Bucharest have been cut off, but that Queen Marie of Jugo-Slavia, daughter of King Ferdinand left for Bucharest yesterday.

Heavy troop movements into Bucharest are reported in Belgrade, it being explained that it is feared the death of the king may bring troublesome quarrels over the succession.

OTHER TOWNS FAVOR PART OF RATE PROPOSAL

Local Council Demands 55-Cent Rate for Four Years and Refund

SEE PARTIAL ACCEPTANCE

Attorney for Affected Municipalities Expected To Reach Decision Today

BULLETIN

Decision to submit two proposals to the Logan Gas Co. as an ultimatum in negotiations for a gas rate settlement was reached by attorneys for Marion and 33 other Ohio cities in conference at Columbus this afternoon.

The attorneys will demand a two year schedule at a flat rate of 55 cents together with refunds for collections made on the presented contested rates or a four-year schedule at 55 cents straight without refunds.

This information came late this afternoon from Grant E. Mouser, Jr., who stated that if the gas company turns down the proposals the contest will be resumed before the state utilities commission and fought to a finish.

Although the four-year gas rate schedule offered by the Logan Gas Co. to settle its controversy with Marion and 33 other Ohio cities was rejected in its entirety by the local City Council last night, it is expected that the settlement plan will be accepted in part by attorneys for the cities in session at Columbus today.

Marion councilmen indicate that they favor no compromise which does not include a refund to gas consumers for collections made by the company on increased rates since the controversy started almost two years ago.

They also ask for a flat 55-cent rate over a four-year period instead of 65 cents for the first two years and 60 for the second two years as proposed by the gas company. The pending compromise offer does not contain a refund provision.

Not as Drastic

Councils in other cities were not as drastic in their action on the compromise plan, according to a report received from Columbus today following the opening conference of attorneys of the various cities called for the purpose to decide the fate of the gas company's peace proposal.

Following the morning session, the attorneys announced that they had decided to reject the gas company's proposal to accept a 60-cent rate for the second two years. At the same time it was intimated that at a session later in the day, the offer of a 55-cent rate for the first two years would be accepted.

The proceeding last night which resulted in members of the local council registering their unanimous disapproval of the compromise proposal lasted only about five minutes, according to reports of their meeting held last night in the office of Mayor Hazen.

The vote resulted in the following telegram being sent to former Solicitor Mouser to order that he might be apprised of the local Council's attitude prior to opening of the attorneys' conference in Columbus today:

"New gas rate schedule rejected. Council offers counter proposal of 55 cents flat rate for period of four years. Gas company to make refunds to consumers as specified by law and to make line extensions without cost to consumers when so ordered by council. (Signed) Emery B. Murphy, president of council."

Seek Opinions

All members present at last night's caucus stated that when the compromise was first proposed they had made it a point to question citizens to obtain their views on the terms and that only one person was found who did not think that payment of refunds should be required.

"If the gas company can afford to furnish gas at 55 cents during the next two years, it is evident that it would have done the same during the last two years while it was collecting a higher rate," Mr. Murphy said in explaining why he believes refunds should be required. The rates collected since June, 1925 and which are still in effect, are the ones against which the complaint was filed and therefore is the rate which is now the center of the controversy.

All members of council except [illegible] Preston and Myron B. Glenn were present at last night's session and it is understood that when the action is taken with their names, Mayor Hazen and City Solicitor Mouser were also present.

Unless representatives of council fail to show that the gross receipts of the gas company in Marion for the first year before the rates went into effect were not more than the gross receipts for the first year after the rates went into effect, refunds will be made to the users. They should then will mean additional expense to the company that the returns of the gas company would not be sacrificed for that period.

When here at a meeting with Council Tuesday night to explain the proposed compromise, Mr. Mouser stated that he did not believe failure of the attorneys to approve the proposal would [illegible] ... stated that it would ...

OHIO'S SPRING TIME SHUFFLE BEGINS APRIL 2

Will Continue Until June, When Entire State Advances Clocks

Columbus, Apr. 1—Ohio's annual spring time shuffling game will begin April 2 at midnight this year and continue until June 6, with various counties, cities and towns moving their hour hands forward one hour until the entire Buckeye state goes permanently on Eastern Standard time.

Because of a recent ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission, all railroads of Ohio except those of Williams, Fulton, Defiance, Henry, Paulding, Van Wert, Mercer, Darke and Preble Counties will go on Eastern Standard time, April 2. This excludes such cities as Defiance, Van Wert, Greenville, Celina, St. Marys and Union City, which may continue on Central Standard time until June 6, when the Ohio law places the entire state on Eastern time, or will allow the communities individually to go on daylight saving time (Central Standard time) at midnight April 23.

Use Various Plans

Cincinnati, Dayton, Bellefontaine, Piqua, Xenia and Middletown communities will go on Eastern Standard time while Springfield to maintain its civic and judicial affairs on Central Standard time until the state law goes into effect, although railroads will operate on Eastern Standard time.

Various communities about the state are expected to use the Springfield method, while others will go to daylight saving time April 23.

Troy, a few miles from Piqua, has yet to determine if it shall use Eastern Standard time April 3 or 23, or wait until the law becomes effective in June. Wilmington, a few miles from Xenia, takes a similar stand.

At Cedarville, it is reported, factories will continue to operate on Central Standard time but will call their workers half an hour later than usual and discharging them much later to allow them to take advantage of either Central or Eastern Standard time.

M'KAY TO BE SENTENCED FOR EMBEZZLING TODAY

Jury in Second Trial Is Discharged When Hopelessly Deadlocked

Cleveland, Apr. 1—Sentence will be passed today upon George J. MacKay and Floyd H. Kelsey, convicted of embezzling $605 from a Cleveland widow. The penalty for the crime is from one to 10 years imprisonment.

Reported hopelessly deadlocked, the jury which heard evidence in MacKay's second embezzlement trial, was discharged last night without the return of a verdict. MacKay had been charged with embezzling $2,758 from Lewis Flaugh, of Parma, in this case.

A series of other indictments, including alleged check frauds are hanging over the convicted man's head but he will not be tried on any of them for probably a week or 10 days, according to Presiding Judge Hornbeck.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION SETS FIRE TO CLOTHES

Firemen Called to Alco Dry Cleaning Plant on Mt. Vernon-av

An explosion of gasoline in one of the washer tubs at the Alco Dry Cleaning Plant, 836 Mt. Vernon-av, about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon set fire to clothing in the tub and resulted in a call for firemen from department No. 1.

The amount of damage to the clothing has not been determined but it will probably be small, Mrs. E. R. Menger, owner of the business, stated today. The tub was slightly damaged by the explosion.

One of the men in charge of the plant was in the room where the explosion occurred but was not injured. The fire is believed to have been caused by static forming in the tub.

Automatic fire extinguisher equipment installed at the plant quenched the blaze before it spread beyond the washer.

WINDOW SHUTTER DAMAGED BY FIRE

Firemen from departments No. 1 and No. 2 were called to the Bradley Drug Store, 131 N. Main-st, shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a window shutter on the building had caught fire from hot ashes which had been piled at the rear of the store. The ashes ignited a box standing against the building and the flames spread to the window shutter.

The damage amounted to only a few dollars.

It is only when your friend has passed on to a better land that you realize that you didn't make as much fuss over him as you should.

In this world of strife a man must be either an anvil or a hammer.

Shanghai "Heavenly" for Folk in Military Services

China Coast Service Mighty Popular with Navy, Marine Corps Officers

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, April 1—Waste no sympathy on the naval and marine corps officers who are being rushed to China.

Those boys have pulled every string they knew of to get their present assignment. Everybody envies 'em.

The poor guys who have to stick here in Washington or are tied up on duty in Occidental waters are the ones to pity.

China coast service is mighty popular with the navy and marine corps commissioned personnels.

The gob doesn't care so much what ocean he's required to navigate. It doesn't matter so much to the enlisted leatherneck what strand he's detailed to land on.

It's all more or less in the day's work, the way they look at it, though they do have their preferences as to where they get their shore leave.

But, to a junior officer, a port like Shanghai's heavenly.

AN officer, with his ship, off Shanghai, say or Tientsin, or Hankow, is due to stay for quite awhile—a matter of months, or maybe a year or two.

He isn't kept on the move, as he is elsewhere, when at sea. Most of the time his craft's at anchor. He has a headquarters.

He can bring his family out from the "states." It comes economically, on a transport. It gets "rates" at all the best hotels. It lives in the style of a magnate's household, on a very modestly-paid junior officer's salary.

OF course an admiral's a "big bug" anywhere. So's a general of marines.

But when you get below these ranks, a naval or marine corps officer in such a place, for example, as Washington, is no particular notability.

He's all right and perfectly respectable, but there are too many more of his own degree all about to let him stand out. Besides, unless he has means of his own, his income's too small to permit him to figure in "society."

There's an "army and navy set" in the capital, to be sure, but it's overshadowed by other official "sets," simply because they have the spondulix to do it.

NOW in Shanghai, to cite the most important Occidental center on the China coast, the international "navy set" is top, o' the heap.

It hasn't the money there, either, that a good many others have, but what it's got does go farther.

Moreover, it has the other folk buffaloed.

For this it has, mainly, the British navy to thank.

Shanghai's permanent foreign population, mind, isn't a bunch of aristocrats. It's a bunch of "traders."

THIS idea—that the navy folks are a higher order of creation and that the "traders," regardless of the size of their bankrolls, don't amount to anything socially—has been so thoroughly ground in, that it "goes," so far as Shanghai's concerned.

It makes Shanghai a lovely place for the navy crowd.

Even a junior lieutenant's an object of reverence, a captain's a grand duke and an admiral's a demi-god.

JAMMED full of refugees as it is now, with a 10 o'clock curfew in effect, the night clubs closed, anxious as to the future and maybe short of fresh eatables and drinkables already, Shanghai probably isn't as pleasant a place for a prolonged sojourn today as it used to be.

All the same, the navy or marine corps man who ever spent any time there is willing to give it another trial for a spell, revolution or no revolution.

That wouldn't have been a half bad paragraph, if the latter half of it had been run two years ago when "Abie's Irish Rose" invaded London.

French Cancellation Campaign On.

We regret to note that the French, even as hosts at social affairs given in honor of visiting Americans, take advantage of the situation to wage their campaign for debt cancellation.

The French war veterans have held out that they would swing the American Legion into the ranks of the debt cancellationists when the American veterans of the Great war go to Paris next September for their annual convention. It seems that the campaign to that end has already been inaugurated. Wednesday evening, at an elaborate banquet tendered in Paris to the convention's advance guard headed by James F. Barton, national adjutant, M. Rosignol, president of the Union National des Combattants, the French veteran organization, said:

"Our two peoples are idealists. But yours must not ask ours to attempt the impossible—mortgage our future generations with a staggering load of war debt."

It's just possible that were France to discontinue her enormous expenditure for air and undersea engines of war, were she to cut down her armed force to a figure commensurate with the poverty which she professes, were she to cease the expenditure of great sums to arm smaller nations she hopes to have as allies in "the next war," were her people willing to share the tax burden as a whole instead of being in considerable part tax-dodgers, were she inclined to give half the study and effort to debt payment she now devotes to debt evasion—were she to follow this course, perhaps she might be able to liquidate her war debts before many generations have come and gone. In any event, she might arrange for debt payment rather than stand before the world in the position she occupies today.

Such as France is today she is only because the United States came to her aid at the critical time and saved her. Even the French should realize that they ask too much when they ask us to pay her for saving her, for had we not saved her she would not have been in position to borrow from us or any other power what we have loaned her since the war, repayment of which alone is all we ask.

Aiding Revolutionary Activities.

Senator Walter E. Edge, of New Jersey, who has just returned from a trip to Central America, declared in an interview in Washington, Thursday, that it was his belief that the popular pastime of taking issue or exception to every act or policy of the state department is one of the chief reasons for the prolongation of revolutionary activities in Nicaragua, a belief which, in our opinion, will be recognized as one of merit by any and all capable of reasoning. We will go even further than the senator and express the opinion that the bulk of the criticism of the government's course in Nicaragua is for the direct purpose of complicating the situation in that republic.

Senator Edge stated that he had purposely refrained from actually entering Nicaragua because of his fear that a visit at this time of a member of the senate foreign relations committee, especially in view of all that has occurred, would be misunderstood or purposely misrepresented in some circles. In Costa Rica, he said, he had talked with representative Americans and Costa Ricans in an effort to get their viewpoints on the Latin-American situation, and especially the American-Nicaraguan situation.

"One significant prevailing note interested me greatly," Senator Edge said. "It was presented to me by every man with whom I talked, Costa Rican or American resident, and was, in effect, that while there would undoubtedly be criticism whenever the United States assumed a position in connection with any revolutionary movement in Central America, the fact remained that when any trouble threatened or actually existed, the United States had always been and always would be the first country to which either or both sides of the controversy appealed for cooperation or recognition.

"This fact naturally invited the further query, how is it humanly possible when the United States recognized an existing government, not brought into power through a coup d'etat, to avoid the natural displeasure of the opposing faction? A shrug of the shoulders—no answer.

"I asked practically every one I talked to as to his real view of the charge that the United States had imperialistic designs or was, in effect, intervening by sending marines to protect lives and property of American citizens and nationals of other countries.

"The invariable answer was an admission that the words 'imperialistic designs' were more or less stock arguments advanced by the opposition, and that no representative or responsible citizen, no matter where his sympathy might lie as to the local government, seriously believed the United States had a desire further than to assist in permitting a stable government to exist, with assurance that the business men of the United States, already deeply interested in these republics, might properly continue their activities.

"As I see the future of Central America, our responsibility it seems to me, is to encourage the policy of fair elections through which to establish or change governments.

"In the meantime, the critics of the state department at home must recognize that the apparent disagreement in public circles here as to policy furnishes encouragement to continue revolutions.

"I can not conceive any policy that this government can follow, no matter what political party the administration may represent, other than to recognize existing governments in those countries as provided by the 1922 conventions entered into by them.

"In fact, it is my firm conviction that the popular pastime of taking issue or exception to every act of policy of the state department is prolonging the so-called revolution in Nicaragua more than is the actual maintenance of armed troops. A brief visit to the vicinity has confirmed this viewpoint."

We have quoted the senator at some length for the reason that we have heard so little of the Nicaraguan situation from any source not in opposition to our government's course and have been so flooded with the views, and charges, and criticisms of those opposed to any and all actions it has taken in Nicaragua.

We feel that Senator Edge has pretty thoroughly disposed of the merit of the "imperialistic" bunk to which there have been so many references. He shows it up for just what it is worth; just what we here in the United States know it to be and just what, as well, it is recognized to be down in Central America. And there is another matter brought out in the senator's interview worth keeping in mind, and it is this; In addition to the obligation which we owe to ourself to protect our canal rights in Nicaragua and the obligation which is ours not only to protect the lives and rights of our citizens, but also those of other aliens down there—the latter an obligation imposed upon us by our own Monroe doctrine—we are bound to respect the agreements entered into in 1922 by the republics of Central America, a matter of which the government's critics, possibly by intention, have lost sight.

What a blessing it would be to our country if our politicians, and others playing for selfish advantage, would stop playing politics in the government's dealings with other governments. But it's hardly probable that this condition will obtain before the millennium arrives, more's the pity.

Let's study the thing a bit. In their entire histories has either Great Britain or France ever remitted a cent some other nation owed her? Why, even at this time, Englishmen are talking of seeking from the United States government the collection of money she loaned the southern states to overthrow our government.

Apropos of that New York City hotel robbery, nobody ever heard of the wife of a hard-working spreader of joy and sunshine in paragraphs carelessly or otherwise leaving $72,000 worth of her jewelry on a dresser.

THE BIGAMIST.

Wrong Feeding of Infants.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Because the attacks recur at more or less regular intervals, very young children are liable to have what is called "cyclic vomiting."

Of course every infant is liable to occasional vomiting spells. Overfilling the stomach is the common cause. A greedy infant may nurse so rapidly and fill the stomach so full that vomiting follows.

Likewise vomiting in infants may be due to wrong feeding. The wrong mixture of foods may disagree with the child. Vomiting, too, is a symptom of indigestion with fermentation. Inflammation of the stomach has this symptom.

The form of vomiting which I wish to speak about today differs from such attacks as I have just mentioned. Without any apparent cause these attacks come on. They may appear at regular intervals or there may be more or less irregularity, several weeks or months passing between the attacks. The attacks of cyclic vomiting last for two or three days. All efforts to overcome the symptom appear to fail.

I am not a great believer in heredity and the influence of parental conditions upon the infant. It must be admitted, however, that cyclic vomiting is more commonly found in the children of nervous parents than otherwise. When the parents are what we call neurotic people, the infant is more likely to have cyclic vomiting.

As I have said, something having to do with the diet is responsible for most cases of vomiting. This is not the case in true cyclic vomiting. Instead of tracing back the symptom to wrong food, we are more likely to find what may be called a nervous cause. Unusual excitement is a factor. It may be that riding in an automobile or on a railroad train may bring on the vomiting.

Where there is a tendency to cyclic vomiting this symptom is usually the first sign on the onset of one of the contagious diseases. Instead of a chill or other sign of disturbance there may be violent vomiting.

The young child subject to this ailment is likely to have uncomfortable symptoms for a day or so before the attack. There may be loss of appetite, a languid, tired condition, black rings around the eyes, and a general feeling and appearance of illness.

The vomiting attacks come on suddenly. They are repeated every half hour, or every hour for a day or two.

The vomited material is not the undigested and foul smelling substance we observe in ordinary vomiting spells. In cyclic vomiting the material is frothy, mucous and watery in its nature. There is great exhaustion, slow, weak pulse, but rapid improvement is noted as soon as the vomiting stops.

You know that when an adult has a vomiting spell he has no desire for food. That is the case in the infant suffering from cyclic vomiting. There is the absence of hunger, but great thirst is present. The child will cry for water.

The treatment is practically the same as that we use for ordinary vomiting. The food should be cut off and the patient kept very quiet. — Copyright, 1927.

THE RETURN.

All day upon the roof thundered the rain,
Drawing thin silver curtains at each pane—
At 4 o'clock like rivers, gutters flow,
And the school children splashing homeward go,
Puddles, like mirrors shattered by their feet;
A row of wet birds dot the telephone wire—
Now must I hurry, my little brood are fleet
To seek their home-roof and the grateful fire.
Dry stockings — sweaters — Mary's house-shoes set
To warm—I know the boys will be quite wet!

Here they are now, muddy and full of glee—
How sweet their quick, cold kisses are to me!
So many things have happened through the day,
They clamor news in voices shrill and gay—
Hustle their wet clothes off, their dry ones on,
Gobble their cocoa and hot buttered bread,
The boys in such a hurry to be gone,
Mark to his puppy, John his pigeon shed.
But Mary gets her thimble, new and bright.
And sews a little by the flickering light.
And gathering up the clutter from the floor,
I smile to know that they are home once more.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

The country to watch in the Chinese situation is not China. The country to watch is Russia. The Russian government not only hopes to dominate China, with her 440,000,000 people, but through China to engineer a world revolution. The deliberate teaching of hatred of the United States is one of the principles of Russian program among the Chinese.

Every time you win a little victory you are made stronger for the winning of a big victory. We go forward mostly by practice and by habit. It is important to give much attention to those two things, whatever road we're traveling—practice and habit.

Uncle Billy King, eighty-three years old, of Little Rock Arkansas, has inherited a quarter of a million dollars. Looking it over, he has decided to keep his job as a city meat inspector. He doesn't need the salary, but he wants the job. The eighty-three years have brought him wisdom. He knows that man was made for a reasonable amount of activity and he can't be happy without it.

Charles M. Schwab, stopping off in Chicago on his way to California, talks about the opportunities for youth at present. He sees plenty. No doubt about the opportunities. It's the boy's move. First he has one lesson to learn. Opportunity doesn't mean a chance to get something for nothing. Opportunity means a chance to get something by paying for it—and sometimes paying a high price.

Too many young men and young women think an "opportunity" must be a soft chance, an easy road, high pay and little work. They must first understand what opportunity is.

Schwab says: "I'd rather go broke as an optimist than be the richest pessimist in the world, without friends."

Without friends you have no assets that are worth listing.

An old letter shows that Beethoven couldn't multiply thirty-six by four and do it right. But he could compose a symphony.

Who's Who and Why.

GEORGE W. NORRIS.

George William Norris was born on a farm in Sandusky county, Ohio, July 11, 1861. He moved to Nebraska in 1885, where he became prosecuting attorney and later a judge in the Fourteenth Nebraska district. He served as a member of the fifty-eighth to sixty-second congresses from the Fifth district in the state, 1903 to 1913. In 1913 he became United States senator. While in the house, Norris led the fight to overthrow "Cannonism." Senator Norris is called a Republican, but he is often among those jumping the party reservation and opposing administration policies, just as he is at present engaged in rendering encouragement to the Mexican government and the revolutionists in Nicaragua. He said recently:

"The action of the president and the secretary of state in regard to Nicaragua and Mexico has lost us the friendship of every nation in this hemisphere south of the Rio Grande river. Every republic south of us is wondering what government we shall next take under our wing.

"It all means that the people of Mexico, Central and South America, instead of regarding us a friend, will look upon us with suspicion, doubt and fear. In addition, our manufacturing and business interests, our commerce with every country south of us in this hemisphere will be injured. We are driving all these people, who ought to be our friends, away from us. We are not only losing their friendship and their confidence, but we will lose their business as well.

"Our course logically drives them to our commercial competitors across the sea. Already there are indications in many of these countries that nothing manufactured in the United States will be bought that can be purchased elsewhere. Our course is not only injuring our national honor, but it is destrimental to our business and commerce."

Dinner Stories.

Little three-year-old Jean had a new baby sister born at the hospital. She was much excited about it and took a great deal of interest in the bassinet and all the arrangements for the baby's home-coming. When the baby came home with her mother and they uncovered it for Jean to see, her little lips quivered and she looked up at her mother and said: "Is that all there is to it?"

Little seven-year old Buddie came in from play one evening with a muddy face and his clothes quite mussed up. His mother was scolding him for his appearance. Looking heroic, he replied: "Oh, well, mother, anyway I made several touchdowns."

* * *

It was 11:45 p. m. and the conversation in the parlor was lagging.

"A penny for your thoughts," she remarked.

"Why, I was just thinking of going home," said he.

"Give him a dollar, Mary," her father called from the top of the stairs. "It's a bargain."

"Nothing West of the Hudson."

A New York girl of fifteen ran away from home to go to Hollywood and be a movie star. She was found a week later in the Adirondacks. That's as much as most New Yorkers know about the geography of the hinterland.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Some Questions of Interest Asked and Answered.

Q. Who was the first to write the phrase "The United States of America?" A. L. C.

A. Robert Ingersoll in his oration on Thomas Paine, said of him: "He was the first to write these words: 'The United States of America'."

Q. What per cent. of the names in Who's Who are those of people whose fathers were clergymen? R. E. R.

A. According to a survey by the publishers of Who's Who in 1923 11.1 per cent. of the persons listed in that book were children or grandchildren of ministers or preachers.

Q. How long is the earth's orbit? H. H.

A. The earth travels 584,000,000 miles on its annual trip around the sun, that is, approximately 1,601,604 miles per day.

Q. How did the Cherokees say "Happy Hunting Ground?" A. M. F.

A. The bureau of American ethnology says that the Indian equivalent in the Cherokee language of the English phrase "Heaven" or "Happy Hunting Ground" is galon lati.

Q. How long have ambulances been used? A. A. V.

A. The French wars following the revolution of 1789 brought the ambulance service along with other military innovations. An organized system for the transportation of wounded was first introduced by Baron Larrey, the French military surgeon in the Army of the Rhine in 1792. It was not until the latter part of the civil war that the ambulance obtained proper recognition and development in the introduction of a uniform system by an act of congress in March, 1864.

Q. How are the sizes for gloves determined? G. M. P.

A. Gloves are proportioned by a scale based on the fact that in the average man's hand the length of the third finger is the same as the width of the hand, and the same figure is the length of the body of the hand to the wrist. Ladies' gloves are made slimmer in the body of the hand with relatively longer fingers.

Q. What is the origin of the parole? C. H. M.

A. The parole is of military origin. It was a pledge of honor given by prisoners of war that if released they would not take up arms again against the country granting the authority.

Q. How much mutton and lamb are consumed in the United States in comparison to beef and pork? A. A. N.

A. The total annual meat consumption per capita in the United States is 148.7 pounds. Of this 75.6 pounds is pork, 67.7 pounds beef and veal, 5.4 pounds lamb and mutton.

Q. When was the organization, the Woodcraft Indians, combined with the Boy Scouts? D. N. J.

A. In 1910 these organizations were combined under the title of the Boy Scouts of America. A charter was granted under the laws of the District of Columbia on February 8, 1910.

Twenty Years Ago.

This day was Monday.

During the early morning hours the mercury dropped to eighteen degrees above. There was a slight snowfall the evening before. Monday night the mercury reached six above.

The Star gave accounts of all the Easter services at the churches, the day before.

Workmen began removing the old counters in County Treasurer Wottring's office, preparatory to the erection of the present work.

Professor E. A. Ross, of the University of Wisconsin, enunciated the view that man is the victim and that woman, lovely woman, is ever the pursuer, which led to a long-drawn controversy in the newspapers and magazines.

All merchandizing records in Marion, it was announced, had been broken by the business of the preceding month.

The long-drawn-out fight between Councilmen J. V. Wilson and J. G. Seiter over the paving of south Prospect street came to an end and council decided to proceed with the paving of the street to the corporation line.

It was announced that there had been a misunderstanding regarding the rental of council's quarters in the Huber building, and that the quarters would be retained.

The residence of Carolina Houk, a mile west of Agosta, was destroyed by fire.

A meeting was held by the directors of the O-P ball team and the construction of the new ball park was discussed.

Cooper Post, No. 117, G. A. R., accepted an invitation to attend a lecture, April 15, by High School Principal F. D. Tubbs.

Heavy life loss was caused by an earthquake at Betlis in Armenia.

The Forepaugh and Sells Bros' car rode in Marion to advertise the coming of that show, April 22.

Fireman C. N. Thurston found a purse containing $30 in a street car, everybody else refusing to pick it up, thinking that it was an April fool joke. It was returned to the woman owner.

O. J. Comer announced through the Star that he was getting ready to do some remodeling and wanted to sell some ash trays to make room.

The annual reception of the Commercial club to the members, their wives, daughters and friends was held in the evening.

Houses were scarce and many new ones were being constructed.

Marion was suffering a serious milk famine.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

The Scotch stories have kinda got standardized, like spare parts of a cabbage. You change the parts around and jiggle them and first thing you know you got Scotch saaw or something that is just as good as it last time you tasted it. So I reckon this is just another one of the antique Scotch with some of the standard parts missing.

BOY'S BODY WAS COVERED WITH SEVERE ITCHING RASH

Skin now without a blemish

Bethel, Maine, July 13:—"About seven years ago my nephew developed a severe case of skin trouble which looked like eczema. His face, hands and whole body were covered with the trouble and his skin became raw from scratching. Many soaps and ointments were tried without success before Resinol Soap and Ointment were prescribed and used. The first few applications stopped the itching and soon he was entirely healed. He now has the loveliest skin I ever saw and, thanks to Resinol Soap and Ointment, no unsightly blotches mar the beauty of his complexion." (Signed) Vivian M. Eagle, Vernon Street.

What Has Gone Before

To the home of PROF and MOLLIE ELWELL in Camdenville, Ind., one night in October of 1898, comes MARTHA DALTON, a nurse, bearing a woman who had fainted on the train on which Martha had been traveling.

Elwell is an artist. He has a son, JIM, aged 5. Late that night twin girls are born to the woman, who dies without revealing her name. The Elwells adopt the girls.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins, now growing to beautiful womanhood, have been named MARGARET and ELIZABETH and nicknamed RUSTY and BETTY.

America enters the World War and Jim Elwell enlists. Two nights before he goes away he discovers that one of the twins loves him and he is in love with her. He tells his mother but does not tell which one it is, because he wants her to love both of them equally in the event he does not return.

He departs for training camp and shortly afterward gets travel orders.

Now Begin the Story

CHAPTER XIII

EXCITEMENT gripped Jim Elwell as he left the headquarters building, and turned toward his own barracks.

Back once more with his own outfit and packing his duffle bag, he was forced to answer a bombardment of questions.

"What's up, Elwell?"

"Goin' to travel," he answered.

"Where to?"

"Don't know."

"He's prob'ly goin' to Camp Merritt, th' lucky stiff."

"I was near Camp Merritt once. When they took me they sent me to Fort Slocum, New York. An' now I'm out here in Indiana. I suppose my next move is San Francisco."

"Yeah, go to France by way of the Golden Gate. See the world!"

Fort Slocum, Simmons observed, was the place where Uncle Sam sent you until he made up his mind about you. "Wish I was goin' with you, Elwell," he said.

"Sam here," said Jim. "Sorry you're not comin' along.

That night Jim found himself on a train, along with perhaps a hundred others, all of them enthusiastic at the prospect of getting away—not knowing wher they were going but hoping it was toward Hoboken—and France.

Jim got off a letter to the family and gripped Simmons' hand warmly as he left. Simmons, this quiet, well-mannered chap, was to die in a gallant but foolhardy attempt to disentangle a first lieutenant from a barbed wire and get him out of range of German bullets.

The lieutenant lost a leg but lived, to call personally on the Simmons family in Chicago after the war and tell them of their heroic son, an act for which the elder Simmons was so grateful that he took the officer into his business and made him a rich man. . . . The fortunes of war. . . .

Someone had guessed correctly when he said Camp Merritt. To this area in New Jersey, where men were snatched from their bunks in the early hours before dawn to be placed on board transports, Jim Elwell and many others were assigned.

It was here, where men came and went every day, where troops poured in from all over the United States and poured out again toward Europe, that Jim was to form one of the most peculiar friendships of his career.

Peculiar because Jim Elwell, brought up in a family where rigid honesty and unwavering morals were accepted as a matter of course, became the bosom pal of a product of New York's slums, an undersized youth who had been shifting for himself since he was a ragged urchin of ten and whose code was every man for himself.

Joe Wren was his name. Jim took his part in an argument one day and fought his fight for him when the wrath of Wren's enemy was diverted to himself. An act for which Wren was grateful.

Food at Camp Merritt was "army grub," and while filling and sustaining it was lacking in some of the more polite fare to which most of them were accustomed.

One afternoon, three days after his arrival at the camp, Wren, complaining that his stomach was yearning for something sweet, bit Jim Elwell for a loan.

"I'm busted an' I'm hungry, Jim. Let me take a buck."

Jim was flat himself, he informed the other. "I've got four bits, Joe. That's all to my name till pay day."

"Well, got anything you can sell or borrow on? Cigaret case, watch, ring?"

"No, nothin' I'd care to hock."

"Well, how about this fountain pen?" pointing to Jim's shirt pocket.

Jim smiled. "It's a good pen, but I don't think I'd want to sell it. It cost $8.50."

"Eight-fifty? Gee, it must be solid gold!"

Only the pen point was that, Jim assured him. Still, it was a good pen.

"Tell you what. We'll sell it an' go an' eat. What good's a fountain pen gonna do you when you get in th' trenches?"

Jim couldn't knock over this argument. Very little, he admitted.

"Well, sell it, then. If you want it back again, I'll see that you get it sooner or later."

Jim didn't ask how. In fact, he never thought again of ever getting it back.

"I'll pick out some guy who looks like he had money and while I'm talkin' to him you come up an' try to sell him the pen. Leave the rest to me."

He left, and Jim followed at a distance. Soon Joe Wren had collared a strange youth, just in with a field artillery unit, and engaged him in earnest conversation.

Jim stepped up. "Say, buddy, I got cleaned out in a crap game, an' I'm willin' to sell this fountain pen. Wanta buy it?"

The youth looked suspicious. He was a rosy-cheeked lad and most likely someone had told him to be careful of some of his army associates.

"I'm broke myself," he informed Jim, but took the pen and eyed it carefully. "How much do you want for it?" he inquired.

Joe Wren spoke up. "Say, that's a great pen. I borrowed it myself yesterday to write a letter. This guy's all right, brother," indicating Jim Elwell. "The pen's O. K."

"I'll take five dollars for it," Jim announced, after some hesitation.

"A bargain. Snap it up brother," advised Wren. "Say, if I had five bucks I'd take it in a minute an' then go an' peddle it for six."

The rosy-cheeked soldier hesitated. "I've only got five or six dollars. I'll give you four for it."

"Sold!" cried Joe Wren. Jim accepted the money and walked off. A minute later he was followed by his partner in the deal.

"Now," said Joe, "we'll get ourselves a supply of candy and cigarets. Gangway for a coupla buddies!"

After Jim had divided the cash with Joe Wren and the latter had announced he was going to make it grow in a game, they fell in for a formation.

As he was turning in that night, Jim felt something hard thrust into his hand. He looked up and found Joe Wren. That worthy, with a huge grin, was proffering the fountain pen.

Jim nearly fell over. "Where did you get it?"

"Where do you s'pose? Say, that apple knocker wasn't good enough for a pen like that. I took it out of his pocket. Take your pen back, brother, an' some day when we're busted again we'll sell it all over again."

Jim laughed, but shook his head.

"No. I don't want it now, Joe. I sold it. If you got it from the other guy, more power to you—and keep it."

Wren was astonished. More, he appeared hurt.

"What's the big idea? I said I'd get it back for you."

And it took Jim the better part of half an hour to sell Joe Wren on the idea that this was not an honest transaction.

And so Joe kept the pen. Later on, when he got broke again, he found him another partner and the two of them worked their little skin game until they left Camp Merritt. Joe confessed to Jim Elwell when they were on their way to France, that he had sold that pen for $75.

"And here's the pen."

Despite Jim Elwell's different conception of things, the two remained fast friends. Nor did Joe Wren think his big buddy was one of "these here sanctimonious reformers."

Back in Camdenville Prof and Mollie Elwell and the twins tried to keep gay, but every letter from him they opened with misgivings.

But, Jim explained, "I'll probably be over in France before you know I've sailed. They don't give you any notice around here. They can't, I guess. The submarines have got 'em worried and they're not trustin' anybody."

Early one August morning, long before the sun had crept over the eastern horizon, Jim Elwell left Camp Merritt.

An air of great secrecy prevailed, but none of the men were fooled. Their next stop, they knew, was Hoboken, and then a transport for France.

Faces were gay and hearts beat high when they left camp. And, later on, when they had boarded the boat for the perilous journey across the Atlantic they joked and laughed and spoke lightly of death.

But underneath it all was a sober mood. Would they ever return? Would they ever see the wives, mothers, sisters, brothers and sweethearts they had left behind?

Jim Elwell asked himself this question. Prof and Mollie and Rusty and Betty, his two "kid pals." One of whom was no longer a kid pal but The Girl—thoughts of whom filled his heart. Was she to be one of those who waited and waited in vain?

And Jim Elwell, now on his way to France and—maybe—death, suddenly decided he had been a fool.

Constipation Bars You from social success

Abundant health is vital if you are to lead in social activities. And you cannot be healthy unless your bowels are healthy too.

Don't dread constipation. For permanent relief is to be had quickly and easily. A new and delightful corrective performs the three essential functions of relieving, cleansing and rebuilding. Without these there can be no cure.

Normal bowel movements are restored with overnight promptness. Natural methods are used, not harshly irritating ones. Then colon walls are cleansed. All the foul "crust" is melted away. Absolute freedom from irritation and strain gives abused muscles a chance to rebuild, to regain their strength.

This new-day corrective, Jam-O-Lax, performs these three vital functions definitely and surely. Nature is given a chance. Normal conditions are soon restored.

In Jam-O-Lax the corrective elements are blended with the finest of fruits and oils. It comes to you as a tasty jam—equally good by the spoonful or as a spread on crackers.

Delightful to take, positive in action, this triple function corrective is the answer of science to your demand for a corrective that will combat constipation.

Learn what this perfected corrective means to you and yours. Avail yourself of this chance at your druggist.

Character is Developed by Discipline, Youth Told

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

DO you remember the letter published in this column some time ago and signed "Bob"? He was disappointed in his high school life because he felt he was left out of so much of the social life on account of having little money and no automobile.

Bob recently received a letter from a gentleman who had read his letter and wanted to give the boy a word of encouragement. Through the courtesy of both I am allowed to reprint part of the letter and hope it may help other boys who are situated as Bob is.

"FIRST let me say what fine folk I think your parents must be, because, in moderate circumstances, evidently, they think other things more important than an automobile (your health and education no doubt among them). And, further, in respecting the law and not being willing for you to drive while under legal age. They're right; there's character in it which they are communicating to you. Don't you allow yourself to look on those other chaps as your superiors in any worthwhile sense. You are their superior for the self denial and the observance of law, and it's coming out one of these days.

"You are going to be top of the heap by and by, look down on this flighty sort of thing from a level of independence, worth while achievement and a character, having the automobile, too, in time when you have won it. I think it's in you to do just that, that the difficulty you are having and the discipline you are acquiring by meeting the situation are the best sort of assurance of it. Just go along doing the day's work the best you know, keep alive, interested in things, watch people as shrewdly as you can, particularly really worthwhile people, and the way will clear up as you go ahead. And from right now hold that head up!"

MRS. C.'S trouble is that her mother-in-law has come to live with her and the two women can't get along. Mr. and Mrs. C. have been married for 20 years and Mrs. C. says they have always been very happy until now. You have my sympathy, Mrs. C., but I can't advise turning an old woman—probably none too well—out of a home. This is the time your husband needs your help in caring for his mother and the two of you will just have to make her as happy as you can and try not to mind her trying ways. Just try to put yourself in her place—old and not wanted—and you can, I am sure, have a lot of charity for her.

Recipes for New and Novel Dishes; Household Ideas and Suggestions

Lima Beans and Cheese are good substitutes for meat and potatoes, so we are making them the main dish for the dinner menu. Dutch lettuce gives the necessary tartness to the meal. If you cannot get lettuce make a cole slaw with a tang.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Baked Lima Beans with Cheese—Three cups cooked Lima beans, one cup grated cheese, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one-half teaspoon sage, two tablespoons chopped onion, one-half cup bean water. Mix ingredients, leaving one-fourth cup cheese for the top. Put in oiled baking dish, sprinkle with cheese and bake in moderate oven for thirty minutes. Garnish with green pepper rings filled with chopped sweet relish.

Dutch Lettuce—Brown four strips of bacon cut in small pieces, add one tablespoon sugar, salt and pepper to taste on the bacon. Next add three-quarters of a cup of vinegar, one-quarter cup water, let come to a boil, and when partly cool pour over lettuce.

Women Tell

Others how this new hygienic pad discards easily as tissue — no laundry

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

BECAUSE one woman so advises others, and because doctors so urge, most women are deserting the old-time "sanitary pad" for a new and better way.

Eight in 10 better-class women now use "KOTEX."

✓ Discards as easily as tissue. No laundry, no embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Deodorizes, thus ending all danger of offending.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Be sure to get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex. Proves old ways a needless risk. In fairness to yourself, try it.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

MADGE TELLS GRANTLAND

HOW I lived through the two days before Hugh Grantland's arrival I do not know. Aghast, terrified at the awful accusation which Dicky had made against me, I felt as though I were caught fast in a trap with no one to aid me. My father was on the ocean—where I did not know, for I had reason to believe that his departure upon the ship at which I had bidden him good-bye was only a blind to deceive the mysterious people who were trailing him, and that his real destination was known only to Hugh Grantland and Lee Chow. Lillian was spending a vacation with her young daughter upon a motor trip, and I did not know just where to reach her. Thus Hugh had been my only resource.

Hugh and Lee Chow reached the city upon the second day after I had wired them, and without even waiting to telephone rushed to the apartment in the speedy car which Hugh always keeps in New York and which he always arranges to have meet him after every journey. I was alone in the apartment when they came, even Katie having departed for her beloved movies, and when I opened the door in answer to their knock and saw them standing there the floor appeared to rise beneath me, and I swayed and would have fallen had not Hugh Grantland caught me.

I did not lose consciousness and in a second or two I was able to say faintly: "I am all right, really. Just let me sit by the window a minute."

"Are you sure you are strong enough?" Hugh asked anxiously, but Lee Chow said authoritatively: "It is better that she should speak quickly. Only please, Mrs. Graham, do not omit anything from your story."

"That I already have decided," I answered.

"Do not put the important thing first," Lee Chow said again. "Please begin at the earliest point of time when you began to be troubled and come down from there step by step, minute by minute."

So, without further preamble, I began my story with my first experience of the mysterious Mrs. Baker's spying upon me and detailed every incident of her intimacy with Mary, even to Lillian's suspicion, so dramatically disproved, that the young girl was the masked dancer at the night-club. Then I told him of Dicky's illness, of his consulting a physician, of my visit to his office, my overhearing his wail to Edith Fairfax, my demand to know the truth the stern revelation of his suspicion that I had tried to poison him by means of the fruit juice I prepared for him each night, and finally my demand that he watch with me to find out the truth.

Lee Chow sat motionless. Hugh Grantland, with arms folded tightly across his chest, emulated his composure until I revealed that Dicky had suspected me of trying to murder him. Then, with an exclamation of horror and pity, he sprang from his seat, and, coming to my side, lifted my hand and gripped it tightly.

Then Lee Chow put a question.

"How do you arrange this—watch—with your husband each night?"

"He buys everything pertaining to the drink," I replied, "and I prepare it when he looks on. Then, first assuring himself that there is nothing in the refrigerator which could possibly affect it, he puts the pitcher inside and waits until his usual bedtime where he can see the refrigerator and yet himself be unseen by anyone going to it. I stay in my own room or the living-room. At his bedtime he throws away all the drink except the bottled sample which he takes to the physician."

"Let us see the refrigerator," Hugh said abruptly, and I conducted the two men to the kitchenette, where they made a thorough inspection of everything in it.

"What sort of woman is your caretaker?" Hugh asked when we were back in the living-room. "Is she reasonably discreet and trustworthy?"

"More than that," I replied, for I had learned to value just those qualities in Mrs. Peters during my sojourn in the apartment.

"Will you let us see her here for a few minutes, and will you go upstairs while we talk to her?" Hugh asked next.

"Of course," I answered, and waited tensely in Mary's room while the bewildered Mrs. Peters faced the two men in my living-room.

Five minutes later Hugh came up the private stairway and crossed the room to where I was standing.

"Of course, I cannot give you back the happiness of which this thing has robbed you," he said, "but Lee Chow and I can solve these mysteries, both of them." He put his hand upon my arm and led me toward the stairway.

"Keep up your nightly vigil with—Mr. Vigil"—his pause told me that he would not say "your husband"—"but leave everything else to us. Telephone here"—and he put a slip of paper into my hand—"at any minute of the day or night you need us. When does Mrs. Underwood return?"

"I believe tomorrow," I said faintly.

"You need not go through the ordeal of telling her this last awful thing," he said. "She knows all the rest, I gather from your story, and I will tell her of the other. And I will tell her not to come to you unless you telephone for her."

"Thank you—for—understanding," I said gratefully.

But, as it happened, it was Lillian who telephoned me instead forty-eight hours later, when everyone in our household save Dicky and I, keeping our vigil, was sound asleep.

"Madge," she said, "I'm glad it's you and not Dicky at the phone. Get a taxi—put on a warm motor coat—and come at once to this number." She gave it to me, "Don't draw up right in front of the house but across the street about a hundred feet farther down the avenue. Don't get out of the taxi until I come unless something should happen which would give you a reason for it. Noel Veritzen has just telephoned that he will need us tonight."

Shanghai Declared Most Unusual City in Whole World

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

(Charles P. Stewart, Washington correspondent of The Marion Star has traveled China from end to end and has a thorough knowledge of the country).

WASHINGTON, Apr. 1—If extraterritoriality is doomed in China—and it seems so—we may as well be saying goodbye to the Shanghai we used to know.

This refers to the foreign city. Don't mix it with the native one.

The two are jam-up together, but that's the only thing they have in common.

Native Shanghai is just a big Chinese city.

There are plenty others like it It may seem queer, to a stranger, as compared with New York or Chicago, but not a bit queer as compared with Soochow or Ningpo or Changsha or many other places in China.

There's only one foreign Shanghai It has some small-calibre imitations—one-horse "treaty ports," scattered along the coast or up and down the big rivers—but to stack them up alongside Shanghai would be like contrasting Podunk of Dinkyville Junction with Manhattan.

Shanghai's international It's independent of everybody and everything.

It's run by the foreign consuls. They're mighty strict as to Chinese residents. Everybody's agreed on that proposition. Foreigners do about as they please. They're answerable to nobody except each to his respective consul. It may seem as if this would make the consuls bosses. Not so. A consul has too much sense to make himself unpopular by annoying his own countrymen.

How Americans Feel

An American, for instance, is supposed to live in Shanghai subject to American laws. He doesn't care the flip of a copper for any other laws. He generally doesn't care much for America's other laws, says he has consul going to make him pay any attention to the Volstead Act!

If a foreigner in Shanghai stops short of murder or burglary he isn't apt to be interfered with

All this will be changed if extraterritoriality goes by the board. The foreigner in Shanghai, or anywhere else in China, will be yanked up in a Chinese court, if he does anything contrary to local peace and good order.

To illustrate:

It always has been considered among the God-given privileges of a foreigner in China to kick a rickshaw coolie if he has felt like it. Frequently he has felt like it.

The same rule used to prevail in Japan until the Japanese abolished extraterritoriality. Now the Japanese penalty for rickshaw coolie kicking by a foreigner is a two-year jail term, without the option of a fine, for the kicker.

There's no foreign working class in Shanghai.

It's a community of traders, managers ,professional men and expert clerical help, with their wives and children.

All the cheaper jobs are held by natives.

Consequently the entire foreign population appears well-to-do.

In fact, a great deal of it is exceedingly hard up. It's a great aggregation to live beyond its income.

Racing Popular

Such amusements as the theater naturally are almost wholly lacking. The Shanghai-ites make up for them by going in extensively for such expensive sports as racing and a great deal of entertaining.

These things come high.

Then, too, credit is almost unlimited. That's because Shanghai's a very difficult place to slip away from unostentatiously. Departures have to be taken by steamship with plenty of preliminary notice.

A deadbeat can hardly flit, leaving a stack of unpaid bills behind him. Perhaps he can do it as a stowaway but that's humiliating, and for a man with a family practically impossible.

Too Much Credit

Credit, then being so easy, it's overworked extensively. Anything from a cocktail up to a polo pony's readily to be had by signing a "chit", which is a check or note, and "chits" have a way of, piling up alarmingly.

Many'a the externally prosperous but really desperately hard-up Shanghai-ite who probably wouldn't shed many tears if the Cantonese wiped out the entire "international settlement," provided they'd contract to wipe out his "chits" with it.

Shanghai's well equipped to resist a military attack from without, but mighty poorly able to stand much interference with its local supply of Chinese cheap labor.

It's a large city—not to mention any of its other labor requirements—with no sanitary system whatever, and every thimbleful of sewage has to be carried away by the barrelful, by coolie-power. Obviously, once let these coolies quit and the besiegers prevent others from offering their services, it would be no more than a matter of hours before the place would become uninhabitable.

CANE PROVES AZTECS DANDIES

Steward Claude Arancda with ancient Aztec cane.

San Francisco, Cal., April 1—The well-dressed Indian's wardrobe, 300 years ago, may not have included a silk hat or spats, but it surely did include a snappy walking stick.

If you don't believe it, consider Chief Steward Claude Arancda, who has arrived in San Francisco from ports in Latin-America. Arancda brought with him an elaborately carved cane, whose known history dates back 300 years.

The hand carvings strongly resemble the hieroglyphics found on rare Aztec pottery. The steward plans to submit the antique stick to ethnological experts at the University of California to determine the meaning of the carvings and to explain just why Central American Indians should have used swanky walking sticks 300 years ago.

Building Up the Body Is Better Than "Patching" It Up

People who succeed in life today are those who prevent illnesses rather than wait to cure them.

It's a lot easier, a lot cheaper, a lot more comfortable, to give a little thought to keeping the body 100 per cent efficient.

Proper digestive stimulation on a safe, scientific basis is a successful preventive for the thousand and one ills that will attack any system that is allowed to run down.

A remarkable stimulant-tonic has been devised or just such conditions as these. It is delightfully palatable and is prepared by an old Virginia concern in business for nearly a century. Druggists and physicians have come to know this stimulant as "Old Monticello Tonic". Get a bottle today from your druggist, take a small wineglass full before your next meal—see how much better you eat—feel the glow of stimulated functions throughout the body. A few days' treatment will bring a quick change in run-down conditions and overcome lack of energy.—Adv.

A Far-reaching Improvement—

400 "EXTRA DRY"

SHELL GASOLINE

400° End Point*

Greater Power

A Better Gasoline—At No Advance in Price!

Again—Shell leads the way—offering the motoring public a better gasoline than has been heretofore offered at the regular price.

It's your old favorite—Shell Gasoline—brought to a higher point of power and perfection by lowering the "end point" to 400°. Those who know the process of refining gasoline will appreciate the tremendous importance of this announcement.

Only the most volatile elements—the very cream of the crude—come to you in Shell Gasoline. Obviously by this process, Shell costs more to produce, as less gasoline is obtained per gallon of crude—but the price to you remains the same.

Due to the low "end point", Shell Gasoline is of higher quality—has vastly increased power—gives easier and quicker starting. It is "extra dry"—unusually free from heavy elements—therefore burns cleanly with less crankcase dilution.

Put Shell to the test. Drive to any of the stations where Shell is sold. Fill the tank with this wonder gasoline. Then watch the improved performance of your car—how instantly it starts—how quickly it responds—how quietly it speeds along the road—how smoothly it takes the hills in high.

A single trial will convince you, once and for all, that 400 "Extra Dry" Shell is unquestionably the greatest gasoline value on the market.

Any Yellow-Red Shell Service Station or any Shell dealer is ready to supply you with this NEW Shell Gasoline at the regular price—not one cent extra for the extra quality it contains or the extra service it will render.

SHELL GASOLINE

Explaining What "400 End Point" Means*

The Improved SHELL Way Takes Only The GASOLINE from the CRUDE

The old way (437° End Point)—the one in general use—takes the gasoline from the crude with part of the heavier and less volatile elements.

The SHELL way (400° End Point) takes only the cream of the crude—producing a higher gravity gasoline—extra dry, clean-burning and wonderfully powerful and effective.

NOW—Change to SHELL

Super-SHELL The supreme "Anti-Knock" gasoline—is available at only 3¢ a gallon more.

Henry Ford Leaves Hospital and is Taken to His Home

AUTO MAGNATE REBELS AGAINST CONFINEMENT

Physicians Do Not Believe Trip in Ambulance Will Injure Motor King

[illegible], April 1 — Henry Ford was [illegible] in bed today convalescing [illegible] familiar surroundings from the [illegible] suffered in a motor crash last [illegible] night.

Removed to Home

Ford was removed to his home late [illegible] night from the Henry Ford Hospital here at his own insistence and over [illegible] objections of his attending [illegible]. The auto king was reported to have said that he could get well far more quickly in his own home than amid the "fuss and feathers" in a public hospital. His physicians [illegible] agreed, fearful that Ford's sympathy to remaining in the hospital might react against him. They believed he would obtain just as good attention and the required rest necessary to his complete recovery in his own home.

Formal announcement of Ford's removal from the hospital was made shortly after 11 o'clock by his attorneys in the Ford-Sapiro libel suit. One of the auto king's counsel said "Mr. Ford was taken home from the hospital during the night at his own request. Mr. Ford has never known confinement and he rebelled against being kept in the hospital. His condition was such that his physicians believed that the journey in an ambulance would not endanger his recovery."

Back Still Painful

Ford's physicians are not confident, it was said at the offices of the Dearborn Independent, Ford's weekly, that the billionaire suffered no internal injuries in the automobile crash Sunday night.

A bulletin issued shortly before noon by Ford's physicians, Drs. R. S. McClure and F. J. Sladen, said:

"This is the fifth day after the accident. Last night Mr. Ford was moved in the ambulance from the hospital to his home. The condition of his sprained back still is most painful to him."

Ford has been completely X-rayed and the only information gleaned from the developed plates, it was said, was that Ford broke no bones in the crash. At first, it was feared he might have fractured ribs. As Ford suffers constant pain in breathing, fear was felt that a lung may have been seriously injured when he was thrown against the steering wheel and then through the door of his coupe. With a damaged lung, it was pointed out, Ford will be in constant danger of contracting pneumonia. Every safe-guard is being taken to prevent this complication.

"Will To Get Well"

The greatest asset in favor of the billionaire's recovery, it was said, were his tremendous physical stamina and his "will to get well."

The secrecy, which surrounded Ford's injuries for two days, was imposed by the auto king himself. He gave implicit instructions to all his associates that not one word should be given to the public. He was prompted to this action by two motives, it was learned. These were: first, that the public might believe the accident had some connection with the million dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit, and second, that it might cause confusion in his own gigantic automobile industry.

As for the first reason, it was said, Ford feared the public might believe that a "crank" was inspired to attack him because of his opposition to Sapiro. As for the other, Ford was said to feel that if the dealers in his car became aware of his serious injury, it might tend to disorganize his business.

Convinced of Plot

Ford himself is absolutely convinced that the "accident" was a deliberate plot on his life. For this reason, his entire secret police force—constituting hundreds of men—are searching for the Studebaker car which Ford saw parked outside his Dearborn office before he entered it last Sunday night and as he left it for his home. It was this same Studebaker, Ford is certain, that followed him down Michigan-blvd, attempted to run into him as his little coupe mounted the approach of a bridge over Rouge River and finally did crash into him just beyond the bridge. The impact tossed Ford's coupe across the sidewalk like a match stick and sent it crashing down a 15-foot embankment into a tree.

The Ford police have obtained the names of the owners of every Studebaker car answering the description of the one seen by the billionaire. They are engaged in making a car-to-car canvass, quietly and without the assistance of public police. The latter were not called in because of Ford's personal dread for publicity of this type and because he was not certain just what action he would take if the car should be found.

Up to date, the Ford agents are working merely under instructions to locate a certain type car with bent fenders on the front right side. Even if located, there was no assurance that Ford would initiate any criminal proceedings against the owner. In the end, it was said, he might be entirely satisfied merely to know the identity of the man and his companion, who crashed into him last Sunday night and nearly cost him his life.

"MUSCLES ALL TIED UP IN HARD KNOTS"

Limbers up quickly after hard ride

"After several years' absence from the saddle, I took a hard horseback ride, and the next day my muscles were all tied up in hard knots. I applied Sloan's Liniment. Right away the tenseness in the muscles began to relax and in an hour or so, they felt as limber as ever."

The makers of this wonderful liniment have received many thousands of letters like this telling of the amazing relief that Sloan's gives to every kind of muscular pain.

Sloan's gives real and lasting help because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It gets at the cause. Right to the place that hurts it brings a healing stream of fresh, new blood. And stiff muscles quickly relax, and pain stops as the healing stream carries off the "fatigue poisons." Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

FINED $25 ON CHARGES OF DISORDERLY CONDUCT

John Zimetzi, 48, of Davids-st, arrested Wednesday night at Davids and Hayes-sts, pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct when arraigned in Municipal Court this morning and was fined $25 and costs. He was taken to the county jail pending payment of the fine.

BORER MENACE EMPHASIZED AT MEETING HERE

T. H. Parks, Columbus, Warns Marion County Farmers To Guard Against Pest

"In 1921 you could not tell the farmers of Lucas County that the corn borer was in the corn on their farms. Now there are fields in Lucas County which have from 10 to 15 corn borers to the stalk, every fourth stalk is ruined and the corn crop last year felt the loss from the corn borer menace."

This was one of the statements of T. H. Parks, Columbus, at the meeting of farmers and business men in the Star Auditorium last night as part of the educational work being done in the corn borer campaign. The meeting was the largest of the three held in the county thus far, more than 400 men being present. Interest on the part of the farmers was evidenced by the questions asked and the general attitude of being anxious to learn all possible about the corn borer and what is being done to control it.

Parks' statement about Lucas County was one of several he made regarding the belief that the corn borer is a potential menace to the corn crop of Ohio.

Decries Agitation

He decried, however, the agitation that is alarming many farmers and bringing them to the belief that the corn borer is about to wipe out the corn crop altogether. Getting excited about the presence of the corn borer in Ohio will not help control it, he said.

What is needed on the part of the farmers is quiet, effective and thorough work along the lines laid down by the U. S. Department of Agriculture regarding cleaning up of all corn stubble, stalks and refuse in which the corn borer lives, and in this way controlling the pest.

The agitation about the corn borer Parks said, comes from the fact that the states infested with it and the federal government are now taking measures and have appropriated money to fight the pest. Prior to this year there has been no concerted campaign to control the corn borer. This year, with a campaign already under way, the word of the potential menace has come to everybody and some of the farmers, Parks said, are getting excited about it.

Impresses Hearers

Parks is a quiet spoken person, who speaks without dramatics, and made a good impression on the group last night. He told of his work throughout the quarantine section of Ohio during the last two years. He has been studying the corn borer and its steady advance into the Ohio corn fields since the pest first became noticeable.

He also took his hearers over into Ontario, where he has spent much time, and where the corn borer came into Ohio, to show them conditions as he found them there.

In 1923, he said, there were 100,000 acres planted in one county in Ontario, Canada. Last year there were around 40,000 acres and corn raising and hog raising were rapidly being dropped by the farmers. Two counties in Ontario, he said, are now going out of the corn and hog raising business almost entirely. Fields there run as high as 35 and 40 corn borers to the stalk, and farmers do not get back the money for their seed.

Stringent regulations now govern the handling of corn stalks and cobs in Ontario, he said. Every piece of corn stalk which has not been shredded or used as feed for cattle must be burned or otherwise destroyed, and all corn must be shelled and the cobs burned before June of the year after the corn was produced in Ontario now, Parks said.

Shredding, placing corn in a silo, deep plowing and fire are the four methods which have been found effective in control of the corn borer, Parks told the farmers. Shredding tears the stalks apart and kills the corn borers. A silo is sure death to the borers, as the heat generated quickly kills them. Deep plowing turns the stalks and stubble under the earth. The borers leave the stalk and come to the surface, where, unble to find anything else to work their way into, they die of exposure. Fire quickly destroys them.

Parks also explained the general plan of the campaign now under way. The first step is the educational work, now being done in Marion County, to instruct the farmers in the best methods of fighting the corn borer.

Plan Inspection

The second step will be the inspection, which will come probably this month, when every farm will be inspected to see if the owner or tenant has taken steps to clean up all loose stalks, bury all stubble and take other prescribed steps.

In May will come the third and last step, the enforcement of the regulations in such places as the inspection has shown the proper work has not been done. Parks went into detail in the plans the government has for machinery and equipment to cover each county with this machinery wherever needed.

W. H. Uncapher was in charge of the meeting last night, which opened with the showing of two reels of motion pictures on the destruction of corn fields in northern Ohio and in Ontario, and demonstrations of effective methods of controlling the borer.

Collings Speaks

Banks Collings, in charge of the educational work in Marion County, spoke last night before Parks, on the educational angle of the campaign, and how it differed from the inspection and enforcement division, which come later.

The last speaker was I. P. Blauser, of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, who is in Ohio working with the state men, giving demonstrations of machinery.

Two large groups attended the machinery demonstrations held in the county yesterday. Attachments which every farmer has for his plow were demonstrated at the meetings in the field, with both tractor and horses.

FINED $5 ON CHARGE OF USING ONLY ONE LICENSE

Wilbur Clark, of 189 John-st, was fined $5 when arraigned in Municipal Court this morning on the charge of operating a truck with only one license plate attached. The police also charged that the license plate found on the machine was not visible.

In accordance with a recent ruling of the attorney general which gives the local Municipal Court permission to do away with costs and fees in cases where leniency is regarded as justifiable Clark was exempted from paying any costs in this case.

MRS. MARY A. STAFFORD IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Stricken on Eve on Her Sixty-Sixth Birthday Anniversary at Home Here

Mrs. Mary A. Stafford, who would have celebrated her sixty-sixth birthday anniversary Saturday, died at 9:50 o'clock this morning at her home, 561 Avondale-av. She had been ill nine weeks yesterday of complications of diseases, heart trouble, influenza and congestion of the lungs.

Mrs. Stafford was born April 2, 1861, in Logan County, the daughter of William and Mathilda Pickering of that County. She had lived practically all of her life in Marion and had been a member of the First Church of Brethren since her girlhood.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Sylvester McClaskey and one son, Noble L. Stafford, both at home; three sisters, Mrs. Fred Termester of Mound, Okla., Mrs. Roy Anderson of Hickman, Ky., and Mrs. George Bent, Toledo-av, and three grandchildren, Miss Florence and Slyvester Stafford, Garfield-av, and Glen Dale Stafford of Los Angeles, Cal. Her husband, Truman Stafford, preceded her in death 26 years ago, as well as three daughters, one son, two sisters and four brothers.

Funeral arrangements, which are not completed, will be announced later.

COUNTY LITERARY MEET FINALS SET FOR TONIGHT

Six Schools Scheduled To Clash; Silver Trophies Are Offered

The finals in the county literary contest will be held at six schools throughout the county tonight. These schools won the right to enter the finals last Friday night when students from these schools took part in the preliminaries in which 11 schools were entered.

The contest finals include six schools instead of four because of a tie in the Agosta-Green Camp-LaRue triangle meet in the preliminary contest, in which all three schools scored 21 points.

Judges from out of the county will preside at all of the contests tonight. The judges are being brought here from counties adjoining Marion County by the school superintendents of the adjoining counties.

Two silver trophies will be awarded for the highest honors tonight. The first will go to the school scoring the most points and the second to the school second in points.

The schools taking part in the finals tonight are Caledonia, Mecker, Waldo, Agosta, LaRue and Green Camp.

majority deciding the course of procedure.

City attorneys attending today's conference at Columbus were Mr. Mouser, D. W. Myers of Elyria, J. W. Miller of Bucyrus, Chance Dewald of Crestline, C. S. Huffman of Ashland, J. D. McNamar of Newark, M. H. Hughes of Athens and K. P. Fox of Bellevue.

All voted approval of the plan to reject the gas company's 60-cent rate proposal for the second two years of the proposed four-year contract. The same attorneys will decide this afternoon whether the 55-cent rate for the first two years is to be accepted.

H. R. Allensworth, Columbus engineer and gas rate expert, also attended the meeting in capacity of technical advisor. It was Mr. Allensworth who advised the city solicitors to accept the 55-cent rate offer for two years, saying that it as very fair and advantageous to the public.

Mr. Allensworth was expert advisor to the city of Columbus in its recent rate fight. In case the fight of Marion and other cities is resumed, Allensworth will be added to the public's forces on the battle front, Mr. Mouser indicated at his recent conference with the local council.

Assistant Attorney General Mouser, who is leading the fight for the cities, in a telephone communication late this afternoon declared that city solicitors attending the meeting in Columbus this afternoon had agreed to accept the decision of the majority.

In other words if the majority of the attorneys at the conference this afternoon vote to accept the 55-cent rate as it was indicated this morning they would do, solicitors of the respective communities will recommend the acceptance to their councils.

CHARGES OF FRAUD ARE DISMISSED AGAINST MAN

Chester Logan, 18, of 189 Pearl-st, was released by Municipal Judge Martin this morning following dismissal of the charge of defrauding an innkeeper filed against him by Rex Clay, proprietor of the Ackerman Hotel. Clay claimed that Logan attempted to evade payment of a $13 debt for board and lodgings. The case was settled out of court. When arrested, Logan was registered under the name of Reed Douglass.

PERMIT ISSUED

A building permit was issued from the office of the City Clerk today to A. C. Sager for construction of an outside stairway at his residence property, 798 Jackson-st, at an estimated cost of $50.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT CHINESE STRIFE STARTS ON PAGE 1

virus. The administration has no desire to be used to pull British chestnuts out of the far eastern fire.

Need Common Front

At the same time, it is also recognized that it is necessary for the powers to maintain some semblance of a common front in China. To some extent the foreign powers are all in the same boat—they must impress the Cantonese that incidents like that at Nanking are not to be tolerated, and that the rights and lives and property of all foreigners must be accorded a maximum of protection. Otherwise, it was pointed out here, the chaotic, ignorant masses that comprise the greater part of China today will go on from one excess to the other.

Because of this, if for no other reason, the United States will join with the powers in protesting against the Nanking outrage, and warning against any repetition of it. There will be, on the part of the United States, however, no ultimatum, no threat or reprisals, and no fist brandishing. If the British want to do it, that is their affair. The American government is sympathetic, but disinclined to go along.

Ships for Protection

The Cantonese will be informed, on behalf of this government, that the American warships and marines in China are there solely for the legitimate protection of American lives and property, and that they will fulfill their mission under any and all circumstances. The hope will be expressed that it will not be necessary for American guns to again lay down a barrage of shells on a Chinese city, as was done at Nanking. But the Cantonese also will be informed that if the necessity arises another barrage will be laid down.

President Coolidge is understood to be considerably resentful over the activities of some American commercial interests in Shanghai in seeking to push the American government into line with, or in advance, of the British. He considers some of the most pernicious of these as little better than "war mongers."

The cabinet met this morning and the Chinese situation was uppermost on the schedule. Secretary of the Navy Wilbur took to the White House a number of confidential reports received from Admiral Williams, and Secretary of State Kellogg was equipped with similar matter from Minister MacMurray and consular officials in China.

YANGTZE VALLEY SITUATION WORSE

Shanghai, April 1 — The situation along the Yangtze Valley became more serious today, with trouble looming at Hankow and Wuhu.

The military authorities are sending supplies north from Hankow where trouble is expected. There is a detachment of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin's northern troops in that area, and a battle may develop between them and the Cantonese.

The U. S. armored cruiser Pittsburgh flagship of Admiral Williams, commander of the American warcraft in Chinese waters, has departed for Tsingtao.

The split between the right and left wings of the Kuomintang (Cantonese liberal cause) is widening with the radicals growing stronger continually. The conservatives are being pushed into the background.

Demand Dismissed

Three thousand members of the Kuomintang, at a party meeting, voted to close conservative headquarters in the French Concession immediately, in addition to demanding that Gen. Chiang Kai Shek dismiss conservative generals for being "anti-red." They demanded, also, the return of the foreign concessions and the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Chinese territory.

Passenger service between Shanghai and Hangchow has been crippled by a general strike in the latter city, called by the general labor union as the result of a dispute with the conservative element of the Kuomintang. The Hangchow railway engineers obeyed the call at once, tying up traffic.

Evacuation of Americans from the Hankow district continues. The steamer Shasi left Hankow for Shanghai Thursday with 12 Americans on board. The Tungwo sails today with 40 more. The steamship Luewho is scheduled to sail immediately with others. Among the refugees from Hankow are U. S. Consul Lockhart's wife and family.

Chunkiang was quiet Thursday, but a parade and demonstrations were arranged for today.

Four more American missionaries from Yangchow and Kiangsu have arrived.

Situation Grows Worse

The American destroyer Stewart is bringing two Americans and seven Canadians from Chaoshsien and Anhwei. They boarded the vessel at Wuhu.

The American consul and vice consul at Chunking, who are on board the Monocacy, report that the situation is daily getting worse despite the assurances given to the consular authorities by Gen. Lu Hsian that he had affairs completely under his control.

Likewise the Cantonese general commanding the southerners at Canton reassured the consular authorities at that place that he had the situation in hand and that foreigners were not in any danger. In spite of these assurances the consular officials are taking precautions against any eventuality and foreigners are being concentrated at Shameen.

Shanghai Is "Quiet"

The United States consul at Wuhu is remaining there. Plans of the Chinese to make demonstrations today caused the consul to order the American and British residents to remain all day on board the warships anchored off the town.

Foreign newspapers are "playing up" the news that reinforcements of United States Marines are coming. Chinese newspapers printed the dispatches without comment, although they criticized caustically the movements of British forces.

A drizzle of rain fell here today. The city was quiet. The attitude of the foreign troops guarding the compounds still is one of the "watchful waiting." Vigilance has not relapsed. The foreign settlement authorities are reinforcing the guards and strengthening the barricades, especially around the boundaries of the French concession.

MISS AGNES HAGERTY, 41, HEART DISEASE VICTIM

Funeral Services To Be Held Monday at St. Mary's Catholic Church

Miss Agnes Hagerty, 41, died suddenly at 11:30 o'clock last night at her home, 374 Thompson-st. She had been ill with neuralgia of the heart only a few hours.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Monday morning at St. Mary's Catholic Church in charge of Rev. F. X. Cotter, pastor. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Miss Hagerty was born in Vinton County, June 24, 1880, and had made her home in this city for 33 years. She was the daughter of Rose Ann Dougherty and Michael Hagerty, the former also originally from Vinton County. She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church and had attended St. Mary's School. Her father, Michael Hagerty, preceded her in death Jan. 15, 1919, and one brother, Michael Hagerty, Oct. 8, 1920.

Surviving are her mother, Mrs. Rose Ann Hagerty at home, three sisters, Margaret and Martha Hagerty, at home, and Sister Mary Apolline, Sister of Charity at Cincinnati, and three brothers, Andrew and John Hagerty, at home, and James Hagerty of Springfield.

story, it is said, will be store space, and the main portion above the first floor will be used for office rooms.

No Cost to City

City and county officials who are said to have full information on the proposed transfer of the courthouse site and erection of a city-county building could not be reached today for confirmation. From what could be gleaned from other sources it was shown that the new city-county building will not mean any outlay of money by either city or county. It is said the building is to be built by the county and the present city lot put in as the city share.

It is claimed by one county official that the legal hitch to the transfer of the courthouse site, involving clear title of the county to the land in event of a transfer, has been finally disposed of and that clear title has been given the county.

Further details of this transaction will be given next April First.

THREE HELD

George Daily, 47, Joseph White, 20, and Thomas Miller, 30, are held at the city prison while police are investigating a report that they were connected with cashing checks which were not honored at the bank for lack of funds. No charges have been filed.

TWO ARE CHARGED WITH HUNTING WITHOUT GRANT

Hearings of John Smith, 25, of 331 Fahey-st and Clarence Scott, 24, of 288 Park-blvd, on the charge of hunting without a license filed against them by O. H. Neimeyer of Prospect, deputy Municipal Judge Martin for next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

OHIO WOMAN BREAKS POLITICAL PRECEDENTS

Mrs. Harding of Ohio, Democrat, Chosen by Republicans of Home

Columbus, Apr. —Mrs. Virginia Corker Harding, distantly related by marriage to former President Warren G. Harding, and representative from Gallia County in the Ohio legislature holds the distinction of smashing many precedents.

In the first place, she is a Democrat. Her husband is an ardent Republican and was twice elected county treasurer on the Republican ticket.

A negative candidate, who was rushed into the race for the legislature post by her friends, Mrs. Harding last year won the Democratic nomination in the primary election, and then defeated in the general election, a Republican male opponent who had served two terms. Gallia county has a normal Republican plurality of about 2,000 votes, and has sent only one Democrat to the state legislature, besides Mrs. Harding, in 68 years. Yet, despite the fact she conducted no campaign, made only one speech, and her opponents campaigned with the experience of a seasoned politician, Mrs. Harding's majority was almost 2,000 votes.

Incidentally, the man she defeated is a neighbor, and one of her warmest personal friends.

"I believe legislatures enact too many laws, and I am in favor of the legislators studying problems of government more intensively, talking less, and expressing their opinions by their votes," she said summing up her political philosophy.

Hard Liquor Never Will Return to U. S., Declares Andrews

ELIMINATION OF SUPPLY SOURCE BEST METHOD

Dry Czar Begins His Third Year in Prohibition Enforcement Work

Washington, April 1—General Lincoln C. Andrews, dry czar, today sailed into the third year of his trip through the rough and stormy seas of prohibition enforcement.

He originally intended to remain as assistant secretary of the treasury only until a general reorganization of the service had been effected. Andrews' future is uncertain. The recent selection of Roy A. Haynes as prohibition commissioner was a jolt to him.

LINCOLN C. ANDREWS

"I can not estimate how the future of prohibition will work out," Andrews said. "It would take a wiser man than I.

"Hard liquor, however, probably never will return as a national beverage. Hard liquor has no part in the new industrial and commercial life of America, where standards of living have attained a level that would have been beyond the comprehension of a man of a generation ago.

Heavy Drinking Unpopular

"Even without prohibition the drinking of strong spirits would have to disappear. Heavy drinking was becoming unpopular in many circles before the Volstead act, because it is so unscientific and necessarily a handicap to the man who is competing in the higher power living of today."

Andrews expressed conviction that the policy adopted when he came into office—that of elimination of sources of supply for the commercial liquor traffic—is the effective way for the federal government to enforce prohibition.

"Real progress has been made along that line," he said.

"I know as well as anybody that there is liquor smuggled into the country, especially from Canada, that there is diversion of alcohol and that occasionally a brewery slips a few car loads of beer onto the market.

"But instead of the continuous functioning of the traffic, so that every bootlegger was assured of a satisfactory supply for his customers, many of these illicit organizations have been broken up.

Difficult To Obtain

"The supply has become difficult to obtain and very unsatisfactory in quality. One by one the customers are dropping the bootleg supply. They are making their own, buying moonshine or quitting entirely."

Andrews sees in prohibition enforcement a long, difficult road. The idea, he pointed out, that "we are going to dry up this or that district, leaves the wrong impression. The whole process is gradual."

Among the problems scheduled for the third year of Andrews' reign are:

(1) Organization of the medicinal spirits business with a view to better enforcement and assurance of pure whisky at reasonable cost. By agreement with the legitimate whisky dealers Andrews expects to get distribution through wholesale druggist, via more concentrated channels and through reliable hands that diversions will be ended.

Wanted Diversion Law

(2) Reorganization of the prohibition bureau within a month.

(3) New steps to check diversions of industrial alcohol to be discussed at a meeting of manufacturers and distillers in New York next week.

"I asked the sixty-eighth congress to recognize a new crime—that of diversion of industrial alcohol to beverage uses," Andrews said.

"I wanted a special law against it which hasn't yet been passed. If Congress had enacted such a statute it would have been a material help, and there would have been left agitation about the so-called poison liquor."

Nation Appreciates Music, Opera Singer Declares

CHICAGO, Apr. 1—Americans DO like classical music and—more—some day America is likely to produce a great master, interpreting the magnificence of the country. That is the opinion of Rosa Raisa, world-famous grand opera singer. It is an opinion directly contrary to that held in many quarters.

"Human emotions, aspirations and discouragements are the same in whatever tongue they are expressed," says the diva. "Also the tales of cupid relate the same story in all languages, and when all these are expressed in the language of music then all geographical limitations and nationalistic difficulties vanish and we become one great body of kindred spirits bound with common ties of life's experience.

"That is why, regardless of whether I sing Italian, German, Russian, American or Jewish songs, I feel I sing straight to the heart of my audience.

Each Nationality Different

"Of course," says Madame Raisa, "each nationality has a different way of expressing itself. The spirit of a given country, the different moods and customs lend variety to its music, making it distinctive. Some day I hope America will give to the world a great master, one purely American, who will express the spirit of this great and marvelous country, and whose music will carry to all corners of the world a song of brotherhood, of opportunity of glorious freedom." Madame Raisa rose to her feet, her eyes glowing, her voice vibrant with fervor. Had fate not bestowed upon her one of the loveliest voices of our generation, she certainly would have gained recognition as a great dramatic actress.

"Yes, I love America," she confided. "It gave me my great opportunity. American audiences are the most appreciative in the world, and, oh, how I do love to sing to them."

Rosa Raisa as she appears in "Tannhauser"

SIMPLICITY AND COLOR FEATURE FASHION REVUE

Many Attend Style Show Presented at Warner & Edwards Store

Simplicity and color formed the keynote of the many beautiful coats, suits, frocks and hats displayed in a spring style revue before a capacity audience last night at the Warner & Edwards Co. Store. "Peggy Paige" dresses and the William Fischman line of coats, exclusively shown by the Warner & Edwards Co., featured the revue.

Outstanding were the black satin, kasha, fille, and silk coats, with ermine, fox and monkey trim, in straight, youthful lines. Picture hats as well as the close-fitting bonnet-shaped hats which have been so popular the past winter, were worn. The hats shown with black coats were often combinations of black and white or a contrast in some bright and brilliant hue. The plaid novelty-trimmed sport coats, frequently in color combinations of black, grey and white, as well as the more elaborately trimmed dress coats largely in tan, were shown. Both the tailored, black, untrimmed suit and the novelty suit in pastel shades, new this spring, were displayed.

Many Colors

That all colors and color combinations will be worn this spring, was evidenced in the showing of afternoon and tea-frocks, often of georgette and chiffon and simply and delicately fashioned. Many of the sport dresses were in two-piece styles or in the new-er jacket effect. The "national park series" or dainty afternoon frocks or sport dresses cut from the "national park material" the new material in which the beauties of our national parks are reproduced, were featured in the showing of dresses. Beaded georgette and elaborate, fringed shawls were shown for evening wear.

The neckpieces worn with the afternoon frocks and suits, were especially beautiful. A lace-trimmed afternoon gown of tan georgette with picture hat, fox neckpiece and accessories to correspond, was especially attractive.

Smart & Waddell Shoes

Slippers were furnished by the Smart & Waddell Shoe Co., and were of patent leather, satin and kid in black, tan and grey as well as several novel slippers in bright shades of blue, attractively setting off the grey or tan frocks trimmed in the corresponding shade or hue. Perhaps the newest slipper worn was the black patent leather with gingham trim, leather fashioned in black and white to resemble gingham.

The display of slickers and leather coats in all the brilliant shades and newest lines, made a colorful scene.

The revue was brought to a close with a grand ensemble of black and white, in which the black satin coat with fur trim was featured.

The models all of whom were local women, were Mrs. Earl Holly, Misses Beulah Hammond, Pauline and Doris Davis, Grace Holverstott, Elizabeth Zieg, Harriette Russell, Bernice Glasener, Ruby Kraft and Ruth Hageman.

Miss Edna Sautter presided at the orthophonic, furnished by the C. G. Wiant Book Store.

COLUMBUS ELKS HONOR HEAD OF MARION LODGE

Thirty-Three Officers and Members Pay Tribute to Grant E. Mouser, Jr.

Thirty-three officers and members of Columbus Lodge No. 37, B. P. O. Elks, including the exalted ruler and secretary, were guests of Marion Lodge No. 32 at its weekly meeting last night, the visit being in honor of Grant E. Mouser, Jr., whose term as exalted ruler of the local lodge will come to a close at next Thursday night's session.

The party, which included men prominent in business and political activities in Columbus, made the trip to Marion in a special C., D. & M. car which arrived here late yesterday afternoon. Mr. Mouser, who is now employed as special counsel in the Attorney General's office at Columbus, accompanied the visitors and returned to Columbus with them on the special car, which left about midnight following the windup of the lodge program.

Since entering the service of the state in the attorney general's office about two moths ago, Mr. Mouser has formed an extensive acquaintance among Columbus Elks which resulted in the tribute paid him at last night's event.

Program Given

The lodge meeting was taken up almost entirely with a pogram featuring addresses by the guests from Columbus. The only speakers representing Marion Lodge were Mr. Mouser, who occupied the exalted ruler's chair and introduced the visitors, and James W. Wark, who has served as chaplain of the local lodge for 30 years.

Among the Columbus visitors giving talks were Exalted Ruler Charles A. Jenckes, Secretary C. W. Wallace, John W. Kauffman, wealthy Columbus Elk who contributed a large part of the funds which made it possible for his lodge to purchase the 250-acre site for its country club, Walter E. Otto, Columbus city auditor, Eugene Throckmorton, former Marion resident now a member of Columbus lodge, Nick Albanese, prominent Columbus sports promoter, Nick Francisco, well-known in Marion as a former catcher with the Lancaster baseball team in the Ohio State League, Dr. C. S. McCafferty, Waldo O. Wade and E. B. McFadden.

Others in Party

Others in the party were Dana F. Reynolds, Charles B. Norris, Charles F. Fast, John H. Otto, Perin Mowypenny, George W. Pierce, Dan F. Cannon, Charles M. Underhill, Frank Schaefing, E. F. Schlottman, Harry J. Linton, James N. Linton, Dan T. Jones, Harry F. Sayre, Carl F. Beck, Morris Goldstein, Henry Supp, Jacob Reiss, M. J. Walsh, John Wahl, Harry H. Long, and Fred Snyder.

Two acts from the Grand Theater vaudeville program were special features of the program, being presented during a recess in the speechmaking.

Immediately after their arrival in the city, the Columbus visitors were entertained at a dinner served by the ladies of the First Reformed Church. A social session also took place following the lodge meeting, lunch being served in the lodge banquet room.

Local Lodge Parent

The pilgrimage of the Columbus Elks to this city was given added interest by the fact that Marion Lodge is recognized as the parent of the Columbus organization, Marion Elks having instituted the capital city lodge about 40 years ago. Reference to this was made by several of the speakers.

Mr. Jenckes, exalted ruler of the Columbus lodge, as well as several other speakers, extended an invitation to local Elks to be present in a body at a meeting in Columbus in the near future. It is probable that arrangements will be made soon for accepting the invitation.

John G Price, former attorney general of Ohio and at one time grand exalted ruler of the national Elks organization, had planned to be present last night but was prevented from making the trip by illness in his family. He sent his best wishes to the local lodge and Exalted Ruler Mouser through Secretary Wallace of the Columbus lodge.

WARWICK DEEPING'S power to ... character, to dissect the ... men and women of to... best in his latest novel, ... Son," it is a pulsating ... life, and like the works ... contemporaries, Galsworthy, ... Wells, it is present day ... through a character ... man and woman, whose ... interlocked.

... is largely a novel of ... though it has an absorbing ... plot. Mary Viner, ... girl, and Arnold Furze, ... farmer, are the leading ... in Deeping's powerful ... Mary Viner was the ... elderly invalid parents, and ... shoulders fell the duties of ... and chores for the farm ... they lived. She was 23, ... deep in her heart, felt her... been meant for better ... of life, less monotonous and ... some circumstances.

... herself as a flustered lit... o'clock in the morning slat... scurried to be clean. Beauty ... smudged skin! A kind of ... her. O,—that washing up, ... final getting out and putting ... Repetition, endless repetition!" ... ironic twist that is life, and ... against her will, Mary falls in ... Arnold Furze, the ruddy, ... working, ill-kept young farmer ... struggles to make both ends meet ... small dairy. "Doomsday" ad... Mary's little cottage and farm. ... was waging a lonely, unre... battle with the soil, laboring by ... and sleeping by night, in the flea ... his camp bed, when Mary ... entered his life, quelling the ... loneliness and inspiring the toil which ... before had seemed so futile. Although ... realizing himself foolish to hope for ... Mary's love, Furze installed the labor-... saving devices so appreciated by the ... farmer's wife and went on hoping—... and loving. Mary, knowing she while ... she could never be satisfied as a ... farmer's life, returned his love, and, in ... spite of herself, permitted him to hope ... that they might marry.

THE climax comes when Mary, with ... the impetuosity born of an over-... wrought mind and overworked body, ... rebels and runs away from home to ... her married sister who lives in sub-... urban London. Although she intends ... to find work as a means of support, her ... sister solves her problem for her, aid-... ing her in finding a wealthy husband ... by giving her attractive clothes and an ... inviting atmosphere.

As the wife of a wealthy financier, ... Mary apparently blossoms into the lady ... of leisure and luxury she long had ... dreamed of being. The loneliness of ... her parents, now being cared for by ... a distant relative, as well as her un-... conquerable love for Furze, occasions ... her many visits home. The death of ... her father, mother, and finally the sui-... cide of her husband, who had lost his ... money in a business deal, followed in ... rapid succession, leaving Mary in worse ... straits than she had been before her ... venture.

Having tasted of life's luxury and found it not all sweetness, and re-tested with a loneliness she had never felt while beloved of Furze, Mary returns home, and proves her love for Furze, now a widower and more in need of Mary than ever before.

"DOOMSDAY" is a chapter from life and Furze and Mary outstanding personalities transferred from life to fiction through the pen of a true artist, Warwick Deeping. Deeping surrounds his characters with beauty ..... the drab beauty of "Doomsday" farm, the simple, unadorned beauty of Mary's cottage and garden, and de-velops them by contrast. Although sunken into obscurity by the portraits of Mary, authentically a woman, and Furze, one of the most realistic of good and honest men, the other characters of the book, Mary's father and mother, gentle, loving, and beautiful in their old age, her sister Claire, ambitious, independent and thoughtless, and Fream, her husband, a shallow man afraid of life and never quite understanding its profoundness are commendable.

"Doomsday" is destined to an enviable fame, if not for plot, for two of the most skillfully-drawn characters of modern fiction. Deeping scored a notable victory and won a title to the ranks of the best of modern novelists.

TO be found on the shelves of the City Library are the following new books, fiction, "Doomsday" by Deeping; "Elmer Gantry" by Lewis; "Forever Free" by Morrow; "Sea Gull" by Norris; "Magic Garden" by Porter; "Gray Dawn" by Terhune, and "All at Sea" by Wells; non-fiction, "Social Psychology" by Allport; "Pleasure from Pictures" by Bailey, "Walt Whitman" by Bailey; "An Introduction to Sociology and Social Problems" by Beach; "Women in Journalism" by Boughmer; "A Short History of France" by Duclaux; "Fifty Famous Painters" by Gerwig; "The Light of Faith" by Guest; "Dramatizing Child Health" by Hallock; "Current Economic Problems" by Hamilton, "Writing the One-act Play" by Hillebrand; "A Lifetime with Mark Twain" by Lawton; "Joan of Arc" by Paine, and "Everyday Biology" by Thomson.

Among the new children's books are "Mehitable" by Katharine Adams; "Curly of the Circle Bar" by Joseph Ames; "Winning His Way" by Coffin; "Abraham Lincoln" by W. F. Gordy; "Handy Boy" by A. N. "ELMER" HEADS BEST SELLERS THIS WEEK

"ELMER GANTRY", by Sinclair Lewis, heads the list of best sellers for last week. The list also includes "The Plutocrat" by Booth Tarkington; "Tomorrow Morning" by Anne Parrish; "Doomsday" by Warwick Deeping; "The Allinghams" by May Sinclair, and "The Return of Snow Shoe Al" by Al Bromley.

The non-fiction best-sellers for last week were "Ask Me Another", "Napoleon" by Emil Ludwig; and "The Story of Philosophy" by Will Durant.

TARKINGTON DOESN'T READ NOVELS!

SINCE many reviewers have called Booth Tarkington's new novel, "The Plutocrat," an answer to Sinclair Lewis' portrait of an American business man, "Babbitt," Mr. Tarkington was recently asked if he had such an idea in mind when writing the book. In answer Mr. Tarkington said, "I am sorry to confess I have never read Mr. Lewis' novel. The more time I give to writing myself the less I have for reading for pleasure."

THREE WHITE STORIES IN ONE VOLUME

STEWART EDWARD WHITE'S three famous novels, "Gold," "The Rose Dawn" and "The Gray Dawn" were issued in one volume by Doubleday, Page & Co., Mar. 18. The three form a saga of California from the days of the gold rush to the final breakup of the Spanish ranches in the '90s. The book will bear the title, "The Story of California" and will sell at the price of the ordinary single-volumed novel.

Sinclair Lewis' "Elmer Gantry" has been selected for March by the Book-of-the-Month Club. In issuing a statement to that effect the club states that "Elmer Gantry" is the first book that has ever received the unanimous vote of the committee.

Harcourt, Brace & Co. say that they believe that the first printing order for Sinclair Lewis' latest book is one of the largest ever attained by an American novel.

The Theater Guild is planning a revival of "Mr. Pim Passes By" by A. A. Milne, author of "Three Plays" and "Success" (Putnam). Milne has devoted much of his time to the writing of stories for youngsters such as "Once On a Time," "When We We Very Young" and "Winnie-the-Pooh."

OTHER NEW BOOKS FOR THIS WEEK

ROBERT M. McBRIDE and Co. announce the publication this month of the following books. "On Tour with Queen Marie" by Constance Lily Morris; "Dream's End" by Thorne Smith; "Fifty Miles Around Paris" by Cecilia Hill; and "The Garden of Redemption" by William E. Royden.

Refreshing among the new novels is "The Happy Medium" by Vera Wheatley, author of "Devices and Desires." It is a story of modern English life and a carefully worked out study of the problems of love, marriage, clashing temperaments, widowhood, etc. in the ways they present themselves to three fine women, mother, daughter and granddaughter.

* * *

Mary Street Whitten, author of "Pastimes for Sick Children," and her brother, Julian Street, novelist, have collected in "Lyrics for Lads and Lasses" the choicest of verse for children. They touch upon a wide variety of topics of interest to children and are commendable for their understanding of the child mind and imagination.

Oil and truth are bound to come to the surface in due time.

Former Galion High School Gridders Hosts to Present Team

MORE THAN 65 ATTEND DINNER FOR ATHLETES

Plans Laid for Organization of "G" Association Among Graduates

Galion, Apr. 1—The members of the Galion High School football teams of '21 and '25 were hosts last night to the team of the present school year at an elaborate banquet held in the Green Lantern Tea Room. The banquet room was lavishly decorated in the school colors and the entire program and menu carried out the football theme. At 7 o'clock a five-course dinner was served, the courses being designated as quarters of a game with familiar terms used throughout. More than 65 of the present and former athletes were present, the largest assemblage of sport participants massed in a number of years.

School songs were sung during the serving of the dinner and some of the old fight cheers given.

Captain Speaks

The toasts which followed were all appropriate to the occasion and the speakers were fittingly introduced by Joe Motsch who acted as master of ceremonies. Arnold Meeker, captain of the championship '24 team contributed the first toast using "College Life and Athletics" as his subject. Harold Leach, trainer of the past season, presented a cleverly arranged medley of old and new G. H. S. songs. Coach "Dave" Eaton spoke on "The Good of Athletics" and Captain Gutshall who led the Orangemen this season gave a short talk on "Our Team." The last speaker introduced was Dwight "Little" Kersh, captain-elect, who promised a hard fighting team for next year and was greeted with encouraging cheers and special yells for the team.

A matter of interest and importance was discussed following the program, at which time plans were laid for the organization of the Varsity "G" Association. The project has been talked of for several years but not until last night were active plans started for the formation of the order which will have as its aim the upholding of Galion traditions, the improvement of sports in the local school and the linking together of present and former athletes who have won their letters.

MOVES TO NEW YORK

Bucyrus, Apr. 1—Mrs. Addie Gardner is leaving Bucyrus Saturday for her home in New York City. Mrs. Gardner has been spending the winter in Bucyrus with her daughter, Miss Mary Gardner.

Maple Syrup Season is at An End for This Year

Bucyrus, Apr. 1—Today finds practically all the maple syrup camps in Crawford County closed for the year.

The first sugar trees were tapped about the middle of February this year and all camps are closed now, many closing by the middle of March. During this time the supremacy of "King Winter" prevented the flow of sugar water about half of the time. Last year the maple season did not start until the first of April or last of March and continued until the first of May. Syrup production was heavier last year than this.

Despite the short season Crawford County sugar camps are estimated to have produced about 3,500 gallons of syrup this year. The syrup sold at prices ranging from $2.00 to $2.25 a gallon thus netting the county producers approximately $7,000. Producers place the average cost of production, irrespective of the land tax and container costs at $175 per 100 gallons or $1.75 per gallon. Thus a paper profit of about $875 was made by the county syrup producers. Cold cash figures do not represent all the profits of "sugar making time" it is held by many enthusiastics who extoll the social benefit of sugar camps yet the average farmer is not able to see how this social benefit alone can compensate for the hard labor involved.

FIELD MEN TO CONDUCT FARM BUREAU SERVICES

Marketing of Products One of Chief Duties of New Officials

Kenton, Apr. 1—Field service of the farm bureau organization and all its affiliated groups in Ohio is to be handled through 11 district men during the coming year, says an announcement just received at the office of the Hardin County Farm Bureau from M. D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. Each of the 11 men will work with local farm bureau officials of seven or more counties which constitute the district. This and neighboring counties will have the assistance of E. K. Augustus of Delaware, under this arrangement.

Under the new plan all the field service of the organization will be correlated through these men who will help local county organizations with their efforts to cooperatively market wool, livestock and other farm commodities, to use cooperative insurance, to cooperatively distribute a few commodities and to solve membership and organization problems, according to word received by local farm bureau officials. They will replace special men who have been used by various branches of the organized agricultural program in the past.

Mr. Lincoln in his report here says the plan was adopted by directors of the federation following the need shown by the work of four field service men used by the organization last year and along lines used in other industries.

It is believed by leaders of the organization that the entire program of the organization will be speeded up by having men in the field who can report wishes and needs of farmers to state headquarters and distribute suggestions from county to county throughout the state.

Heat produced from an electric arc welder reaches a temperature of from 6,300 to 9,400 degrees Fahrenheit.

BIRD HOUSE BUILDING CONTEST IS PLANNED

Annual Event of Kenton High School Classes To Be Held in Armory

Kenton, Apr. 1—The annual bird-house building contest of the industrial arts classes of the Kenton high school will be held in the Hardin County armory here on Thursday afternoon and evening, April 7, it was announced today by Albert Huffman, instructor.

More than 100 houses of every make and variety, are expected to be displayed by the students in competition for prize awards.

One of the leading sponsors of the contest this year is the Kenton chapter of the Izzak Walton League of America. The chapter is offering prize money totalling $50.

An elaborate program is being arranged for the display. Music will be furnished by the high school band and orchestra during the afternoon and evening.

VOTE TO VOLUNTARILY CLEAN UP CORN STUBBLE

Upper Sandusky, Apr. 1—At a meeting attended by 200 at the Wyandot Consolidated School in Antrim township Wednesday night a unanimous vote was given by all present to start in at once on the voluntary clean-up of corn stubbles as prescribed by the corn borer regulations. Those present thought it much better to start at once cleaning up and being paid for it than to wait and leave the government do it. Ray F. Donnun explained the corn borer campaign. Music was furnished by the Junior and Little Sandusky Orchestra.

GLEE CLUBS PRESENT TWO-ACT MUSICAL PLAY

"Rings in Sawdust" Given in Cardington High School Auditorium

Cardington, Apr. 1—The combined boys' and girls' glee clubs of the local high school presented a two-act operetta entitled, "Rings in the Sawdust," at the school auditorium last night.

The scene of the first act was a circus ground during the afternoon performance. The second act, the evening of the same day.

The cast of characters follows: Toby Dunn, owner of the circus, Merrel Gates; Sally Squeezem, in love with Toby, Pearl Hildebrand; Alonzo Squeezem, Sally's father, Hollis De Muth; Marybelle Jaybird, a widow in love with Alonzo Squeezem, Dorothy Hodge; Willie Jaybird, Marybelle Jaybird's spoiled son, Paul Sanderson; Eliza Slimmer, Marybelle Jaybird's spinster sister, Arline Hull; Inky Snow, colored helper in the circus; Robert Snider; Dinky Moore, Irish helper in the circus, Kensel Russell; chorus of negroes, male voices; chorus of Irish colleens, female voices; chorus of villagers, helpers in the circus, mixed voices.

The action of the play takes place on circus day in a small town. The first act took place before the afternoon performance and the second act just before the evening performance. Alonzo Squeezem, a wealthy small town banker, holds a mortgage on a circus which Toby Dunn, the owner, is unable to pay. Dunn has previously become engaged to Sally Squeezem, the banker's only child. This so enrages the banker that he threatens to foreclose the mortgage unless Sally promises to give up all thought of Toby Dunn, which she refuses to do. Marybelle Jaybird, a fascinating widow, has set her cap for the banker, much to her sister's disgust. Inky Snow and Dinky Moore, helpers about the circus, plan with Sally and Toby to abduct the banker and send him to the Widow Jaybird's house before he can foreclose the mortgage. The widow is overjoyed at the prospect of having the banker as a guest and readily enters into the plan. In the dark, a mistake is made and Inky Snow is sent instead of the banker. When the banker goes to his home for the mortgage he finds that it has been stolen. He suspects Sally, but when the widow suggests Inky Snow he has Inky arrested and sent to jail. At this point the mortgage is discovered in Willie Jaybird's pocket and through an unexpected turn in affairs, Sally and Toby are forgiven by the banker, Inky is freed from jail and Widow Jaybird captures her quarry.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR SCHOOL BASEBALL NINE

Mt. Gilead To Open Season at Iberia Friday, Apr. 8

Mt. Gilead, Apr. 1—Prospects are bright for a winning baseball team this spring at Mt. Gilead High school. Baseball was established a year ago as a major sport, and last year's team won only two games, one from Claridon and one from Iberia.

A game was played last night between the regulars and the Yanigans, in which the regulars won 10 to 2. Logan and Liggett pitched for the regulars and showed up well. Rhodebeck hurled for the Yanigans.

L. Thompson and J. Thompson will fight it out for backstop. Rathburn has cinched shortstop and White will likely play second sack. Stevens, Shade and Makeever are all trying for the initial sack. Zolman has been playing third so far, but may lose to Liggett, when the latter is not pitching.

Captain Bennett will pick the stones from the right field garden. G. Rule, H. Rule, C. Crayne, W. Crayne, Stalger, Tischer, and R. Stevens are candidates for the other positions.

The opening game will be at Iberia next Friday, Apr. 6. A schedule of ten games is being arranged.

500 FARMERS ATTEND BORER DEMONSTRATION

Corn Pest Control Campaign To Soon Get Under Way

Kenton, Apr. 1—More than 500 farmers witnessed the demonstration yesterday afternoon of the various types of farm machinery recommended for use in the corn borer eradication campaign now getting under way in quarantined areas of northwestern Ohio.

The demonstration, the first of its kind here, was held on the Harry Oats farm, north of the city, with Dave Issler, federal agricultural engineer, in charge of operations.

Campaign Starts Soon

A permanent consignment of corn borer machinery from the Toledo headquarters for use in the northern half of Hardin County, now under quarantine, is expected to arrive early next week, A. E. Chenault, federal ag man, said today. As soon as this arrives and names of corn borer officials are confirmed by the general corn borer campaign director, active eradication work will get under way.

During the display yesterday the much talked of stubble beater was shown in actual operation both in standing stocks and stubble. Many types of plows were also demonstrated.

Among the spectators at the display was Dr. T. H. Parks, state entomologist, and E. P. Reed, agricultural agent for the New York Central lines.

Robins Hungry, Tables Wrecked When Frigid Winds Blow, April First Stuff

SHIVERING robins piped their usual serenade of "Spring is here" this morning.

"April Fool, we won't be out today," chorused the fishworms, in their cozy holes. So the robins had to go hungry this morning.

Mean Trick

This was probably the meanest April Fool trick of them all. The weatherman was responsible. By sending out a cold rain last night, and sharp winds behind it, he practically ruined the robin's cafeteria.

Having stored away their galoshes and raincoats for the season the fishworms figured it would be foolish to come out in the cold rain without them.

Robins were not the only ones shivering in the cold gray dawn of the First of April. A number of householders gazed ruefully at the empty coal bin and then broke up the dining room table to feed the furnace. All of them called "April Fool" as they happily chopped away.

Gay Coal Man

Over the telephone wires this morning went the messages that made the coal men's hearts glad. "April Fool" they called as they answered the telephone, "How much coal do you want?"

"Blankety-blank. April fool yourself, and send me half a ton, or maybe three lumps, if you can spare that much" was the apt retort of the orderer.

The mercury got only as low as 36 last night, but the cold, drizzly rain and the wind made it seem much colder this morning.

Relief Distant

And there is not much chance for relief within the next few days, the weatherman said today. Rain is scheduled for Ohio tonight and colder temperatures will hit the central and southern portions of the state Saturday.

A year ago today the mercury got as low as 25 and 38 degrees above was the highest recorded.

POLICE HERE ASKED TO WATCH FOR STOLEN CAR

Laundry Truck Stolen at South Bend, Ind.; Seek Young Man

The local police department received a message from authorities at South Bend, Ind., this morning requesting them to watch for two men driving a Dodge laundry truck, which was stolen after the driver was kidnaped and thrown from the machine on a country road near the Indiana city. The truck is painted read, according to the police report, and carries Indiana license number 71-407.

Another message, which came from the Hardin County sheriff at Kenton, requested police here to be on the lookout for a young man, about 25 years of age, accused of passing worthless checks at Kenton. He was described as wearing a suit of brown clothing and having his head bandaged, his claim being that he had been injured in an automobile wreck.

Deverl Haycox, 357 Fahey-st, reported to police that his Hibbard bicycle was stolen last night on N. Prospect-st.

SAPIRO ADMITS HE WAS WELL PAID FOR WORK

Meteoric Career Given Sordid Touch During Cross-Examination

Federal Building, Detroit, Apr. 1—The meteoric career of Aaron Sapiro as leader of the American co-operative movement was given a sordid touch today during the cross-examination of the so-called wheat king by Senator James A. Reed, chief of Henry Ford's counsel at the trial of the million-dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit.

Before an interested jury in federal court Reed drew from Sapiro admissions tht all his work in helping American farmers to organize co-operatives was well paid for and always by agreements entered before the wheat king began his activities. Sapiro however insisted that the farmers themselves fixed his fees.

Reed spent an hour delving into Sapiro's connection with the co-operative movement in Texas. For this work Sapiro said he received $37,300 in the years 1922 to 1926. The fees were paid for speeches, organization work and legal activities for the Texas farm bureau federation.

Reed read Sapiro's ostensible purpose in Texas into the record but in sneering tones.

DONAHEY REQUESTS RETURN OF PRISONER

Columbus, Apr. 1 — Governor Vic Donahey today sent a requisition on Governor Al Smith of New York requesting return to the Ohio Reformatory, Mansfield, of Roy, alias Virgil, Redd, under arrest at Jamestown, N. Y., charged with escaping from the reformatory.

Redd, it was stated, was convicted of operating a motor vehicle at Mansfield without the owner's consent.

Once convinced that the show is a poor one, later developments can seldom redeem it.

SIXTY-FOUR CARS TAGGED IN MARION THIS WEEK

Forty-Four Auto Owners Appear in Municipal Court Up to Noon

Sixty-four automobiles were tagged by local police during the last week, practically all for violation of the parking rules, the Muicipal Court docket showed this morning when the weekly hearings of traffic cases started.

At noon, 44 of the auto owners had put in their appearance in compliance with the rule which requires them to report to police within 24 hours after finding their cars tagged. No penalties were assessed against any of the 44, due to the fact that all were first offense cases. Fifteen of the 44 were out-of-town residents and the others live in Marion.

Judge Martin states that the new traffic court system seems to be an assured success. When it was first operated only a small number of the autoists appeared in court voluntarily when their cars were tagged. The percentage of those complying promptly with the rule is increasing and the judge anticipates that eventually practically all will report for hearing on scheduled time.

Police are instructed to bring in all autoists who fail to appear voluntarily, tarily.

UPPER SANDUSKY MAN IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

A. M. Smith Dies at Home of Daughter; Funeral Service Saturday

Upper Sandusky, Apr. 1—A. M. Smith, one of Upper Sandusky's well known residents for many years, passed away at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Fritchie, S. Fourth-st, Wednesday night. Death resulted from bronchial asthma and heart trouble, following ill health for about a year.

Albert Morgan Smith was born in Cincinnati moving to this city about 50 years ago. About forty-eight years ago he married Miss Ardella Fernwalt, who preceded him in death in 1894. Surviving are two sons O. L. and Carl Smith, both of this city and one daughter Mrs. Fritchie, at whose home he died. He also leaves one step-daughter, Mrs. Peter Rettig, of Galion, ten grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Claud S. Fee, of Danville, Illinois, and two brothers, Dr. Frank Smith, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Rev. Benjamin Smith of Baltimore, Md.

He had followed the trade of blacksmith for a number of years but was retired at the time of his death. Fraternally he was a member of the Elks and Red Men lodges and was secretary of the former lodge.

Funeral services will be held at the Fritchie home, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in charge of Rev. C. R. Allenbach. Burial will be made in Oak Hill Cemetery.

SECOND HEARING OPENS ON RECOVERY ACTION

County Commissioners Grant Grave Creek Ditch Petition for Improvement

Second hearing of the suit brought by Klingel Brothers against L. D. Brady, for recovery on a contract for stone furnished for a road in Richland Township, started in Common Pleas Court this morning.

Klingel Brothers were awarded a judgment in the first trial last year, and moved for a new trial, which was denied. They then appealed on error and the court of appeals ordered a new trial, which was begun today.

Grant Petition

The petition for the improvement of the Grave Creek ditch and its branches was granted yesterday by county commissioners. The ditch and its branches is one of the longest in the county, having a length of approximately 10 miles.

Bonds Sold

Bonds for the East River-Cardington-rd were sold yesterday by the County Commissioners to the Provident Savings Bank & Trust Co., of Cincinnati on the bid of $22,942. The Cincinnati company bid par, accrued interest and a premium of $584. There were two other bids made on the bonds.

LOCAL ERIE ENGINEER HONORED BY EMPLOYERS

Called Upon To Drive Newest Type of Electrical Engine on Line

A unique honor was bestowed upon J. W. Snyder, Blaine-av, Erie engineer, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Snyder who has been in the employ of the Erie for more than 22 years, was called upon to drive the newest type of Erie electrical engine from Dayton, through Marion, to Kent.

With Mr. Snyder were seven officials of the railroad who are accompanying the new engine to New York. It will probably be placed in service on the Erie between New York and Dayton within the near future, it was said today.

The new engine is all electrically equipped with the most modern improvements. It was built at a cost of approximately $700,000.

CITIZENS CONTESTING TRANSFER OF PROPERTY

Would Enjoin Placing Land in One School District in Another

Upper Sandusky, Apr. 1—Through Attorney A. K. Hall, Horace H. Tears and others have filed suit in common pleas court against the Wyandot County Board of Education, Audion R. C. Harman and Treasurer Charles A. Wentz, asking that the County Board of Education be enjoined from transferring certain property now in the Harpster school district to the Little Sandusky school district. The petition claims that the property is uninhabited and vacant territory values at $125,000 of more and that the proposed transfer is for taxation purposes only. It is claimed that the board has no jurisdiction and that the proceedings are illegal and void. It is also asked that the auditor be enjoined from placing the property on the tax duplicate and the treasurer from collecting taxes in behalf of the Little Sandusky School district.

WALTER HAGEN AND EMMET FRENCH LEAD

Hagen Favored To Win North-South Golf Tourney Under Way

Pinehurst, N. C., April 1—It was Walter Hagen against the field today as the imposing array of contestants in the North-South open championship went down the final 36 holes toward $2,000 prize money.

Hagen and Emmet French, Southern Pines, N. C., crack, led the rest with 141 each, but Hagen is not ordinarily vanquished when he is sitting on top, and he is the favorite to win.

Back of the leaders were Bobby Cruickshank, defending champion, with 143; Peter O'Hara, Bretton Woods, N. H., with 144, Leo Diegel, former Canadian open champion, with 145, John Farrell, Quaker Ridge, with 146, and Jim Barnes, former British open champion, with 147.

Young Eugene Homans, Englewood, N. J., was the only amateur that was giving the professionals concern. He registered a 147 in the 36-round play yesterday.

Other scores were: Jock Hutchison, Chicago, 147; John Golden, winner of the southern open professional prize, 148; Tom Harmon, Hudson River, N. Y., 148; Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., 148; Tom Armour, Washington, 150; George Voigt, the Washington amateur, 150, and August Nordone, unattached, 150.

Gene Tunney Signs To Meet Dempsey in Return Battle for Title

New York, Apr. 1—Gene Tunney world's heavyweight champion, today signed to meet Jack Dempsey in a return battle for the heavyweight crown Tunney wrested from Dempsey last September. The battle will be 25 rounds to a decision. The fight will be staged at the Polo grounds, July 4. The date and location were agreed upon and the signatures of both fighters obtained at one sitting. Top price for ringside seats will be $5, to permit the bulk of the real fight fans to witness the bout.

British Golfers To Again Gain Prestige Lost to America

London, Apr. 1—The British sport world is cheered today by the announcement that plans just formulated will immediately restore the prestige which American golfers have cost Britain's linksmen in the last six or eight years through their presistent winning of the British open and amateur golf tourneys. The plan consist mainly of an official act of the government, which if passed, will automatically make naturalized British subjects of every foreigner to win either honor.

John McGraw Disposes of Horse Race Holdings in Havana

St. Augustine, Fla., Apr. 1—John McGraw, manager and part owner of the New York Giants today disposed of his horse race holdings in Havana and elsewhere and will confine his entire attentions to baseball in the future. His connection with the thoroughbred game has been severed with the expressed purpose of carrying out the spirit of the diamond game, which is to divorce baseball from horse racing and gambling in every form. He also announced his players will be allowed to direct their own play this season.

Vincent Richards, Tennis Star, Is Reinstated as Amateur

New York, Apr. 1—The United States Lawn Tennis Association today reinstated Vincent Richards as an amateur and in good standing, which makes him eligible to compete in the Davis Cup matches this coming summer. The association ruled that the irones Richards received from C. C. EAST SIDE ACES TRIM PLEASANT BASKETEERS

Win 37 to 7 on Pleasant Court; Score at Half Is 23 to 6

Marion East Side Aces last night again proved their superior basketball strength by taking the Pleasant Independents into camp to the tune of 37 to 7 on the Pleasant floor. The Pleasant team was entered in the county tourney here.

The score at the quarter was 6 to 6 but at the half the Aces were leading 23 to 6. From then on it was a massacre proper. Pleasant was completely outclassed and made but one point during the entire second half while their opponents piled the score sky high.

It was the last game of the season for the Pleasant quintet, Selter, Loeffler, and Williams were the only three able to connect with the bucket and they didn't perform brilliantly in face of their opposition. Bob Deadon led the locals in scoring but Fetter, Lingo, and Yazel were on his heels. The Aces showed plenty of action and looked better than ever on a foreign court.

St. Louis Cardinals Best Team in National League; Cubs Second, Says Walsh

New York Giants Third in Race and Cincy Reds Come Fourth, Declares Sport Writer; Giants Weakened by Loss of Kelly and Cincy Lacks Necessary Pep for Pennant

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Apr. 1—In spite of the fact that the intelligentsia has been quite active in making a lot of chatter about the Giants and, with a polite cough, sneering St. Louis into the second division, the writer has come to suspect the National League of having at least two really potential contenders at this writing and that the other one is not the New York Giants.

Offhand, I would name the Cardinals as a logical choice, although I am not concerned with the matter of whether they will or will not win the pennant. If I knew, I could make myself a lot of money and the National League could save itself a lot of time.

The Cards, perforce, can hardly hope to divorce themselves from an inspiring manager and second baseman and remain the identical machine that won the 1926 championship. They probably have lost the intangible something represented by the club's faith in Hornsby, to say nothing of the difference between a star infielder and the man they now have. But figured in cold blood, the Cards have lost less between seasons than some of the rivals who figure they have gained much.

Giants Lose Kelly

In case there may be any remaining doubt about the matter, allusion is being made in part to the Giants, who may have added something in punch since 1926 but have lost plenty in defense through the disability of Young and the departure of Kelly. There are only a few Youngs and Kellys in baseball and the Giants necessarily must expect to be weaker at first base and in the outfield on that account. Add to this the fact that they have three minor league catchers, uncertain pitching and at least one outfield position that may or may not be filled adequately and you begin to remember things that the glamor of Hornsby and Roush made you forget.

No, I would say that a rising, young club like the Chicago Cubs is a better pennant hope at this immature moment than the Giants, who don't know how good or how bad they may be; better, too, than the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates, who haven't been improved between seasons, and, therefore, must have slipped back a bit.

Here's Lineup

Based on common sense, the present ranking of National League teams might run in this order: St. Louis, Chicago, New York, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Boston, Brooklyn, Philadelphia.

The Cubs actually aren't a strong ball club but, imbued with the impetus of their rush at the close of the 1926 race, they may be hard to stop with all of that fine young pitching and those 77 home games in which Hartnett and Wilson may shoot at the fences. On paper, they don't seem to be as dangerous as the Giants, Reds and Pirates but I think they will get sounder leadership than the latter while their weaknesses in certain departments are not as glaring as those of the Giants and Reds.

Reds No Better

The latter figure to lose some of the great pitching that carried them along through recent years and their shortstop is open to suspicion. Except at first base, the entire infield lacks punch. Frankly, the Reds aren't better than they were last year and that wasn't good enough.

It may even be a mistake to rate them with the Giants. My remarks about the latter are predicated on common uncertainty about their catchers, pitchers and one outfielder. The infield is almost foolproof, one of the best in all baseball, in spite of Kelly's absence.

A good infield usually makes a good ball club and, if the rest of the team does what McGraw says it will, there won't be any race; it will just be an exhibition.

However, this is mere visionary strength and you can't pay off on that. The Cards already know what they have. It consists of good pitching and fine, intelligent catching; a good infield, perhaps not quite up to its world series standard; a fair outfield, which may get better. I can't see how such a club can be conceded worse than second place, Hornsby or no Hornsby.

MOST VALUABLE

George Burns, who has been chosen as captain of the Cleveland Indians this season, was declared the most valuable player to his team in the American League last season. Burns, who has been in the majors for more than a dozen years, is the oldest of the regular players on the Cleveland roster.

EIGHT QUINTS REMAIN IN NATIONAL TOURNEY

Norfolk, Va., Appears To Be Class of Field in High School Meet

Chicago, Apr. 1—The original field of teams representing 35 states had narrowed down to eight teams today at the start of fourth round play in the University of Chicago's ninth annual interscholastic basketball tournament.

The eight states that still have representatives battling for the national prep championship are North and South Dakota, Idaho, Arkansas, Virginia, Georgia, Mississippi and Illinois.

The hope of the East hangs on Norfolk, Va., while the far west has its hope survivor in Pocatello, Ida. Norfolk, at this stage of the meet, appears to be the class of the field. The Virginians qualified for fourth round play by defeating Eugene, Ore., 11 to 10.

Today's pairings:

Pocatello, Idaho vs Huron, S. D.

Grand Forks, N. D., vs Batesville, Ark.

Maury High, Norfolk, Va., vs Florence, Miss.

Morton, Cicero, Ill., vs Vienna, Ga.

Vernon doped as an easy winner in the grade meet but the Oak-st game promises to be a battle.

Vernon Heights yesterday defeated Central Junior High 26 to 2 in the semi-finals of the eighth grade meet. The Vernon crew so far has scored 109 points in three games to their opponents' eight.

Oak school yesterday downed Pearl-st 2 to 2 in the semi-finals of the grade meet but Olney had only two games to land in the finals while the other two teams have met three opponents.

The tourney started Tuesday afternoon with a total of 21 teams entered. Plans for the meet were made by Coach Paul Sprout of Harding High but Shults has charge of the events.

HEYDLER SAYS ROGERS MUST SELL HIS STOCK

McGraw Declares That Former Cardinal Will Play Despite His St. Louis Holdings

Jackson, Tenn., Apr. 1—Having signed outfielder Eddie Roush for three years at a reported salary of $25,000 per annum, Manager John McGraw today faced a serious controversy with President John Heydler over the question of Rogers Hornsby's stock holdings in the St. Louis Cardinals.

Denying President Heydler, McGraw declared that Hornsby would play second base for the Giants even though he is unable to find a buyer for his St. Louis stock. McGraw made this statement after conferring with lawyers and asserted that the New York Club would resort to court action if necessary.

HEYDLER UPHOLDS FIRST DECISION

New York, Apr. 1—John A. Heydler, president of the National League, declared today that his ruling barring Rogers Hornsby from playing with the New York Giants while he remained a stockholder of the St. Louis Cardinals still stands. Informed of Manager John McGraw's intention of playing Hornsby in defiance of the ruling, Heydler said he believed the ruling will have the full support of directors of the National League.

Six New Men Win Varsity Spurs on Ohio State Nine

COLUMBUS, Apr. —Three sophomore rookies are among the six players who appear to have won their spurs as regulars on the Ohio State varsity nine during the annual southern spring training jaunt, just ended. Two of the three sophomores are sons of former professional players.

Gaps in the Buckeye line-up as a result of graduation and ineligibility since last year probably will be filled by these players: Bobby Riehl, Columbus shortstop; Ray Klink, Cincinnati, pitcher and outfielder; Leon Ames, Niles, pitcher; Ray Widdifield, Brunswick, first base; Harry Sutton, Chagrin Falls, pitcher and outfielder; and Sylvester Sokol, Cleveland, catcher and outfielder.

Riehl, Klink and Ames are the sophomores. The others have had previous varsity experience, but not as regulars. Ames is the son of the erstwhile National League pitching star of the same name, while Riehl is the son of Charlie Riehl who once was shortstop of the Columbus American Association team.

Klink Is Pick

Klink, however, appears to be the pick of the new men. He pitches well and is quite at home in the outfield, both offensively and defensively. He is a Cincinnati high school product. When he is not used for mound duty, he is practically certain to be used in the outer gardens.

Riehl, captain of the 1926 freshman nine, has shown enough so far to warrant a shift of two of the veterans of the squad. To make room for him, Marty Karow, who has been shortstop for two years, has been moved over to second base, while Pat Sommer the 1926 second baseman, is being held for utility infield duty.

Widdifield has the call at present for the first base job left vacant by the loss of Ralph Lee, of last year's team. Klink and Ames are the pitchers who will replace Captain Don Sloterman and Fred Dobric, of last year, both graduated.

Sokol in Outfield

Sokol, a former catcher, can be used in the outfield, as can Sutton, who is also a pitcher. Artie Tarbert, of Cleveland, is the only veteran flychaser.

The Buckeyes won but two of the six games they played in the south, and were rained out in the seventh. But the coaches express themselves as well satisfied with the jaunt, from the standpoint of the development of the squad.

Ohio State plays its first home game here Monday, Apr. 4, with Miami as its opponent.

cuing in defense during the game with the Juniors of 1926 Wednesday night. Their offense always has been of the best and after the showing made on the defense Wednesday, many persons are of the opinion that they will come through with the banner.

Both Win Two

Howitzers have defeated the Agosta Lunas and the Juniors of 1926, the latter team being doped as the probable winner of the tourney. The Martel Lion Tamers have smacked the Kirkpatrick All-Stars and K. of C.'s, the latter quintet having scored a victory over the East Side Aces in the second round.

The dope bucket has been upset a number of times during the tourney so far and may take another tumble tonight. Epworth M. E. is the only team expected to be in the finals at the start of the meet, that has really landed there. They were doped to win the tournament and still are. The Juniors and Aces were expected to play in the finals of the Class A tourney and both have been eliminated.

The first game will get under way at 7 o'clock with the others following in the order named.

IRWIN AND CRAM TO MEET IN TITLE MATCH

To Decide Table Tennis Championship of Y. M. C. A.; Results of Tourney

Bud Cram and Eddie Irwin will meet either tonight or Saturday to decide the table tennis championship of the Y. M. C. A. Cram and Irwin remained in the running following a round robin tourney in which Chaney, Burson, and the two others took part.

Chaney was winner in the junior tennis tourney a few days ago. Cram was winner in the senior, and Irwin and Burson represent the "house" Both are employed in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A.

Following the round robin tourney Cram had a percentage of .651 and Irwin was second with .585. Chaney came third with .561. Chaney defeated Irwin during the tourney but the latter played more games than the former and emerged with a higher percentage.

PAOLINO IS FAVORITE OVER HEENEY TONIGHT

New York, Apr. 1—Paolino Uzcudun, colorful Spanish heavyweight, was a 2 to 1 favorite today to defeat Tom Heeney of Australia in their ten round bout here tonight.

The aggressive Paolino made a decided hit with local fans by whipping Knute Hanson recently while Heeney was not impressive in his bout with Charley Anderson.

MAY AGAIN WIN

Manager John (Chino) Collins rises to remark that with a fair share of the breaks he will lead his Des Moines team to its third consecutive Western League championship this season.

Idleness is such a slow traveler that poverty soon overtakes it.

Where Good Clothes Cost Less

JIM DUGAN

Where Good Clothes Cost Less

If Youth But Knew

BY THEODORE ROOSEVELT

Former Assistant Secretary of the Navy

AT 38 a fellow would feel a little humptious and foolish expounding the principles of success. That had best be left to the man who has lived his life and can look back contemplatively to its outstanding accomplishments.

T. ROOSEVELT

Yet any man or boy who forms the habit of learning as he goes, knows he is not the same this year as he was last, but is either better or worse—as in Kipling's verse that I quote,

"I wish myself could speak to myself
As I left him a year ago:
I could tell him a lot that would help him a lot
On the things he ought to know.
When I think of that ignorant barrack bird
It almost makes me cry——"

Each man must work out his own precepts and practices his code of life, his personal and professional ethics. But there are some simple rules of the game that, learned in youth, are always remembered.

When we were little boys my Father gave us all a motto taken from the football field. That motto holds true in after-life in the same fashion it held true then. It is: "Don't flinch, don't foul, and hit the line hard!"

Suggests Honesty

There are all sorts of sermons in that. To me it has always suggested that with honesty of purpose, common sense and energy a man can do anything he wishes. You may say that honesty of purpose is character, that common sense is a mental gift, and energy something one is either born with, or without.

I answer that they can all be cultivated. The average man has a natural share of common sense. This he can increase by forming the habit of thinking things out, weighing, comparing, looking ahead through imagination, looking back through experience, and using his will power to concentrate on the matter in hand.

The common sense man doesn't make excuses or talk of handicaps. He walks up to his difficulties or his ambitions and fights them fairly.

Honesty of purpose is no more than the desire to use what abilities you have for the benefit of others. The common sense man cultivates the understanding of other men—men of all kinds—and this leads him to make their cause his own. The purely self-centered man doesn't get far.

Cultivate Energy

Energy too is cultivatable. You can exercise your mind and body and make a habit of it or you can stop working your brain and muscles and become inert. But many men are energetic who have neither bodily robustness nor extraordinary mental gifts. Energy is of the spirit.

But there is no "secret" of success, much as we hear the phrase. Analyze a successful man and you will find quite ordinary capacities, but ordinary capacities that are used to the utmost and kept in polished-up condition.

Personality and luck do not necessarily play a part. Isn't personality more energy than anything else? Energy is power and the man who has it draws people to him. Luck figures in the lives of those who are conspicuously prominent. Some unexpected opportunity places them where their gifts and achievements are most useful and they are "made overnight." But the majority of successful men need no unusual turn of fortune to help them.

Young men may grow disgusted with their job, older men find it isn't worth while to.

Young men may grow disgusted with their job; older men find it isn't worth while to.

NEW ERIE TIME TABLE PUZZLES LINE PATRONS

Transfer to Eastern Standard Will Not Change Schedule

The announcement made in this column [illegible] ago that the Erie Railroad [illegible] trains between Marion [illegible]nnati on Eastern Time in- [illegible] Central Standard Time has [illegible] much comment among those making frequent use of this means of transportation.

According to reports coming from the ticket office at the Union Station, many persons have failed to understand the new time schedule, and are under the impression that passenger trains will leave the local station an hour later than before.

Same Time

Erie trains, in reality, will leave the Union Station at the regular time now carried on the schedule. The time used by the public here is Eastern Standard and the schedule of the Erie has always been quoted to the public in the time used by the city. Time tables, however, have been on Central Standard time. Time tables issued after 3 a. m., Sunday, Apr. 3, will be printed in Eastern Standard but they will in no way effect the time that trains will arrive and leave Marion.

At present, the Erie Railroad is operating eight trains through Marion, seven of which run daily with the other making runs every day except Sunday.

Westbound trains leave Marion over the Erie at 11:23 a. m., 6 p. m., and 1:20 a. m. The 6 o'clock train is the gas car between Marion and Huntington only. It does not operate on Sunday.

Leaving Time

Eastbound Erie passenger trains leave Marion at 6:45 a. m.; 1:45 p. m., and 6:50 p. m. daily.

Southwest trains leave Marion at 11:30 a. m. and 6:03 p. m.

Erie passenger trains will depart from Marion at the time mentioned above following the issuance of the new time table, April 3.

Car Derailed

A loaded coal car on a northbound Hocking Valley freight train was derailed just south of Silver-st crossing late Wednesday afternoon. The car partially blocked the crossing until again placed on the tracks by the Erie wrecker. No delay in railroad traffic resulted.

Rail Briefs

C. R. Drumm, safety inspector of the Hocking Valley Railroad, offices in Columbus, was in Marion yesterday.

J. F. Hanstein, traveling passenger agent of the Hocking Valley Railroad, was in Marion yesterday. His offices are in Columbus.

R. W. Robertson, traveling passenger agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad, was a visitor here late Tuesday afternoon. He hails from Cleveland.

D. W. Jordan, traveling freight agent of the Missouri Pacific, spent Tuesday in Marion. He has offices in Cincinnati.

J. H. Clarkson, traveling passenger agent of the Rock Island lines, with offices in Cleveland, was in Marion Tuesday night.

The Kent and Meadville divisions of the Erie Railroad had a payday yesterday. Agent G. R. Heuney acted as paymaster in the Erie district here.

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestents

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.—Adv.

OAKLAND, CAL., HAS ONLY WOMAN STEEPLE JACK

Oakland, Cal., April —The only woman steeplejack in the world, is the honor claimed by Mrs. "Goldie" Wesella of Oakland, who helps her husband paint tall smokestacks and flag poles.

Mrs. Wesella entered the profession during the war when her husband was unable to secure helpers. She has followed the hazardous occupation since that time.

"Don't you ever get nervous?" she was asked.

"Well, sometimes when the wind is pretty strong. But then a fellow figures he has only one life to life."

FATHER OF NINE PAYS PENALTY FOR MURDER

Scott Workman, Who Killed Wife, Electrocuted at Ohio Penitentiary

Columbus, Apr. 1—Scott Workman, 40-year-old wife slayer of Batavia, today had paid the supreme penalty for his crime.

Workman went to the electric chair at 8:30 p. m. Thursday at the Ohio State Penitentiary here, and was dead four minutes later.

Displaying remarkable composure, Workman ate a chicken dinner two hours before the death march began, and joked with guards as he entered the death chamber. He had professed religious consolation, and asked forgiveness for all who had participated in his trial and conviction.

"I took the life of my wife after we had spent many happy years together," said Workman, "but I did it when I was drunk, and not responsible. I did not know what I was doing when I shot her."

Governor Donahey had refused to interfere, despite the pleas of the condemned man's nine children, who urged that he was needed to support them.

HEALTH!

The health of whole-wheat

In this quick-cooking cereal

You know oatmeal—

Now try Post's Wheat Meal!

That's the name of the Post Health Product that provides the health of whole wheat in the form of a delicious cereal that cooks in two and a half minutes.

It's a genuine wheat food, made from whole wheat—with the food values of the golden wheat.

There's abundant health in Post's Wheat Meal. When served with milk or cream it furnishes vitamins for growth—bran for regularity—minerals to build teeth and bone—protein for body building—carbohydrates for energy.

And what delicious flavor! Children love it. You don't have to force them to eat it. Watch it disappear from their bowls. Watch the bowls come back for more.

Post's Wheat Meal is a body builder. It makes for rosy cheeks, sparkling eyes and strong bodies.

Its color is golden, like the wheat berry itself. It has the health qualities of the wheat, even the bran. Vary children's breakfasts with Post's Wheat Meal and give them a welcome change. It's made from whole wheat.

Tell your grocer to include Post's Wheat Meal in your order today. Healthful and convenient, it cooks, ready-to-serve, in two and a half minutes.

Marion Business Men Urged to Help Boost Advertising of Harding Highway Here

President of Iowa Division of Road Sends Communication to W. H. Holverstott, Secretary-Treasurer, Asking Support in Program

W. H. Holverstott of this city, secretary-treasurer of the Harding Highway Association, received a communication today informing him that a general advertising campaign has been launched to promote tourist travel over the highway by acquainting the public with its merits and the numerous attractions to be found along the route.

The communication urges that Marion business men, individually and through their organizations, take part in the campaign in every way possible. It came from C. W. Bond, president of the Iowa division of the highway association. The only unimproved section of the road is in Iowa and steps are now under way to complete the improvement work there. Mr. Holverstott predicts that within not more than two years, all of the highway will be surfaced through this state, making it the longest improved thoroughfare in the country, extending from Washington to Los Angeles.

Supports Campaign

Carl J. Gugler, Galion attorney who is president of the association, is actively supporting the advertising campaign.

"When a tourist has been attracted to your city or town, see to it that he is given every consideration," Mr. Bond's letter reads. "A cordial welcome, reliable information and every courtesy should be extended to all visitors at all times. Reasonable hotel prices—and good merchandise at right prices. Your Chamber of Commerce or Commercial Club and hotels should be headquarters for tourists where this information should be obtainable in the different cities they visit while enroute.

"Communities stand to gain in proportion to the amount of time, thought, effort and finance put into plans to attract tourist trade. With the coming of spring and summer, 40 million minds turn their thoughts to the open road. Ten million passenger cars are being equipped for next season's tour. It is in the very air. The open road, the Harding highway, beckons, entices, lures and even commands.

Modern Hotels

"Modern hotels and other conveniences are at your command. Important places of historic interest; the world's most famous Keokuk dam on the majestic Mississippi just a short side trip, can easily be reached via the Harding Highway. A very decided effort should be made to enter continually to the tourist, to attract and help folks enjoy to the fullest extent their annual tour.

"The idea that any concern or community along this great federal highway can not afford to advertise is essentially wrong and has been disproved by experience. If your business—or community—is not worth advertising, advertise it for sale. Highways like big businesses should embrace the creed: 'If you do not advertise, you fossilize.'"

RADIO AND DANCE KILL MUSIC IN BRITISH HOME

London, Apr. 1—The radio and dancing are killing music in the home in England are faced with a crisis due Music Publishers' Association, an organization of publishers of serious music, which avers that music publishers in England are faced with a crisis due to the present popularity of the radio and dancing.

Meeting in annual conference, the association, after noting the disappearance of yet more music publishing firms, and the amalgamation of others, adopted a resolution urging that the public be educated in the enjoyment of serious music.

"Broadcasting has a good deal to do with the present crisis," said one speaker. "You cannot listen-in and play the piano at the some time. The advent of broadcasting has decreased the performance of music in the home."

"There is no doubt but that broadcasting has begun to kill the good old chamber music of the home," said an other speaker. "In many houses in England today the piano is used as a pedestal for the radio loud speaker. That is a sign of the times."

INVENTOR OF OCARINA FALLS 40 FEET TO DEATH

Rome, Apr. 1—Luigi Silvestri, the inventor of the ocarina, the humble pear-shaped instrument which has delighted or distracted so many thousands of people, has just died at Camisano di Vicenza in tragic circumstances.

Silvestri, who was 87, was called to the balcony of his house on the last day of the carnival by an admiring crowd of fellow citizens, many of whom were playing the instrument which made him rich and famous.

While acknowledging the greetings of the crowd he lost his balance and fell forty feet into the street, dying immediately.

HOW FORD ACCIDENT OCCURRED

Artist sketches story of accident to Henry Ford, billionaire auto manufacturer of Detroit: Top right, Ford is pictured working alone at night in his laboratory at his Dearborn, Mich., plant. Lower left is a visualization of a closed Studebaker car, said to contain two men, forcing the Ford coupe, in which Ford had started to his home, one-half mile away, over a 15-foot embankment just beyond a bridge over the River Rouge. Ford's light car shot down the high slope and caromed against a large sized oak tree. The shock of the impact concussed Ford's brain and he fell over unconscious. Recovering consciousness, Ford staggered to the lodge of the gatekeeper of his estate and collapsed, pictured in the center sketch. The lower right sketch visions surgeons working over the billionaire in the Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit.

STARTS HARD FIGHT ON SLANDEROUS GOSSIPS

Six Weeks' Campaign Put Under Way by Marietta Advertising Club

Marietta, Apr. 1—Gossip, particularly in small towns, has always been recognized as an evil, but like the weather nobody ever does anything about it.

At least not until the Marietta Advertising Club took official cognizance of the evil of slandering tongues.

So a six weeks' campaign has been started. Every member of the club will participate in a personal evangelism drive against gossip and loose talk. Prizes have been offered for the best essays submitted by local residents on the evils of gossip. Placards, bearing pithy phrases of condemnation gossip and reproof of gossipers have been posed throughout the city.

The family skeletons in Marietta closets are taking a well earned vacation.

JAPANESE EARTHQUAKES READJUSTING ISLANDS

Berkeley, Cal., Apr. —The two great Japanese earthquakes, the disasters of 1923 and of March, 1927, were part of the geological readjustment of the Nippon empire, Professor Perry Byerly, seismosiogist at the University of California, declared today.

"Japan is in a state of constant readjustment," Professor Byerly explained. "The mountains are young and high and the ocean is deep."

Professor Byerly placed little credence in the "sun-spot" theory of earthquakes. All of the Japanese tremblors were plainly recorded on the University of California seismograph.

CALIFORNIA M. D. OFF TO HAWAII LEPER COLONY

Berkeley, Cal., April 1—Accepting an invitation to study leprosy, Dr. E. L. Walker, professor of tropical medicine at the University of California, has left for the Kakaii Leper Station in Honolulu.

Dr. Walker planned to remain in Hawaii for a year, seeking to discover specific chemical cures or remedies for leprosy and other dreaded tropical ailments.

Modern mothers wisely plan child meals for GROWTH

Letting children have the heavy meals planned for grown-ups is not the modern mother's way. For now it is known that the early years have special needs—and normal growth takes place only when certain important essentials are planned for, and provided.

A bowl of Mother's Oats with a cup of milk supplies nearly one-fourth of the growing child's requirement for the muscle-and-tissue building substance called protein.

Mother's Oats is approved by nutrition experts for another highly-important reason: it is a whole-grain food!

And how good it tastes! Always smooth and even-textured, always rich with the flavor only whole-grain foods have! For it is milled with painstaking care by millers who have had 50 years of experience.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, good for genuine Tudor Silverware, or other handsome premiums.

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

It was Friday and I was so I turned cartwheels after I had done down by the rope in his When we were eating breakfast er said to my grandfather, Square, March came in like a and went out like two lambs. I a peach tree in bloom yesterday." all right," said my grand- "a peach tree hasn't got any It will get caught in a freeze then there won't be any peaches." my father said he likes the peach- grow on family trees the best. that must be funny because they ed. There is not anything funny a family peach tree.

My aunt had got done eating and was the paper, and she said "Here funny incident. A dog out west at a flea so hard it hit the end its tail off. What do you think that?" "I didn't know fleas had said my grandfather. "It was end of the dog's tail that was bit said my ant, "what do you think

By golly," said my grandfather, "I glad I haven't got any fleas." My said, "No one can talk sense to you without being insulted!" and she slam- down the paper and went to her room. I looked at it to see if there was picture of the dog biting his tail off, there wasn't. My ant didn't even which end of his tail he bit off. I if I was a flea on a dog I wouldn't away out on the end of his tail. are not so very brite.

When we got to school the Lost Bag of Tripe wasn't anywhere around, so I upstairs to see if he had got ahead of us, and he wasn't in room, so I thought I would go downstairs and we'd lay for him com- to school, but when I got almost to the foot of the stairs something spat- tered on my head and when I looked up I got my eyes full of something I thought was water, and I ran back up but I couldn't see anyone, and when I got down in the yard everyone hol- lered.

My face was covered with ink, and whilst I was at the hydrant trying to wash it off the Last Bag of Tripe came in the front gate and asted what was the matter, and just then Mush's wife grabbed him and said, "I'll show you what is the matter, sneaking down the back stairs and through by room and out the back door and over the fence. I am going to tell your teacher, and if you stole something I will have you arrested. Just then the dirty crook broke away and got up the steps before we could get him.

The teacher says my face will have to wear white.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

"Do you know what day this is, Bumple?" asked Gazie, the little white Wogglejig girl, of her green brother as they were about to go to school one morning.

"It's Friday, the last day of school this week, and we don't have to go to-morrow!" cried Bumple, pulling off one of his green legs and trading it for a yellow one belonging to his brother Wumple. The Wogglejigs were always scrambling themselves this way. That's why Uncle Wiggily had gone to spend a few weeks in the bungleump with Boppy and Um, the little wooden man and woman who had charge of the wooden creatures.

"Yes, it's Friday all right," agreed Gazie. "But it's something else! Have you forgotten?" She whispered into her brother's ear, which made him squiggle a bit as Gazie tickled his face. But Bumple suddenly exclaimed in delight:

"Oh, I forgot all about that! What fun we'll have. Let's do it to Uncle Wiggily!"

"Do what?" asked Dazie, who was a dark blue Wogglejig. "What are you going to do to Uncle Wiggily?"

"April Fool him!" whispered Gazie. "Now don't tell him and spoil it all!"

"No, I won't do that!" promised Dazie. "I know he'll laugh."

A little while after that the six little Wogglejigs came slowly out of the woods where they had been for some time, chuckling and giggling among themselves.

"When he sees it he'll be terribly surprised!" whispered Wumple, laughing.

"I wish he'd hop along now so we could April Fool him!" said Bumple.

Just then the bunny gentleman himself came hopping along the woodland path, and at the sight of him the six little wooden Wogglejigs hid under the bushes, for it was not yet time to go to school.

The rabbit uncle reached an open place in the woods and, looking into the little clearing, he saw something which made him exclaim.

"Hello there, Gazie! I see you. Oh, it's Mazie! You'd better hurry along to school, Dazie, or you'll be late, Dumple and—dear me, it isn't Dumple, it's Wumple! Well, you'd better hurry to school—why I believe, after all it's Bumple! The tail is green, but——"

Uncle Wiggily, who was much puzzled, rubbed his pink nose and looked again. Under a bush he saw what he thought at first was Gazie Wogglejig for the head was white. But then he noticed a light blue front part of the body and he thought it must be Mazie, so he called her name. But after that the rabbit gentleman saw some dark blue front legs and he guessed it was Dazie standing there, for dark blue was her color.

"But the back half of the body is red, and that's Dumple's color," said Uncle Wiggily to himself, as he looked again. "Only the hind legs are yellow, and the belong to Wumple. But the tail is green, and so that must belong to scampered, not knowing what it was going to happen.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily "I guess I April Fooled them with my trick! That's fare enough, Squiggle Bugs! You needn't carry the make-believe Wogglejig any farther!" Then some Squiggle Bugs, which Uncle Wiggily had asked to move the joke creature so as to fool Dazie and the others, crawled out from under the legs of the pretend Wogglejig and joined the bunny gentleman in laughter. "It was a good April Fool trick, my dear Squiggle Bugs!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily.

It was a long time before Gazie and the others learned how it was that Mr. Longears April Fooled them more than they did him. But the old rabbit gentleman was wise in many ways. And if the rice pudding doesn't stay so late at the moving pictures that it loses all its raisins on the way home, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's mud pies.

If a man tries to be a hermit part of his time, he is so neglected that he has to be a hermit all of the time.

Buy UNUSED Mileage

for that's just what you get when you buy a USED CAR

JUST check the miles the car has already traveled right off the sheet when you buy a used car: then figure the price asked against the "UNUSED MILES" still in the car and you'll be agreeably surprised at the small cost, and realize the more that the new car buyer really pays for the car. You only buy transportation at a fair price. The first owner takes all the depreciation. Ads like this:

DODGE—1925 Roadster; run only 5500 miles, top, tires, paint and motor in excellent condition; am buying new car and will sacrifice —— Main-st., phone ——.

LEGAL NOTICE

State of Ohio, Marion County, ss:
In the Probate Court, No. 9361.
Rollin H. Thompson, administrator of the estate of Louisa C. Thompson, deceased, Plaintiff, vs.
Wilhelmena Weyand, et al., Defendants.

Wilhelmena Weyand, who resides in Seattle, Washington; Beatrice V. Martin and Raymond H. Martin, who reside at 5010 Eighth Avenue, N. E., Seattle, Washington; Maud Gruber and Martin J. Gruber, who reside at Rainier, Washington; George W. Thompson and Irene Thompson, who reside at Burlingame, California, will take notice that Rollin H. Thompson, administrator of the estate of Louisa C. Thompson, deceased, on the 3rd day of December, 1926, filed his petition in the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, alleging that the personal estate of said decedent is insufficient to pay her debts and the charges of administering her estate, and that the said Louisa C. Thompson died seized in fee simple of the following described real estate:

Situate in the County of Marion and State of Ohio, to-wit: The east half of the northeast quarter and the east half of the southeast quarter of Section twenty-six (26), one hundred and sixty (160) acres, more or less.

Also, the west half of the west half of the southeast quarter of Section twenty-five (25), forty (40) acres, more or less.

Also, the west half of the west half of the southwest quarter of Section twenty-five (25), forty (40) acres more or less; in all two hundred and forty (240) acres, more or less, and all in Township four (4), South Range fourteen (14) East, and in Salt Rock Township.

Also, the undivided one-ninth (1-9) interest in the following described real estate:

Situated in the County of Marion, in the State of Ohio, and in the village (now city) of Marion, and bounded and described as follows: Being part of section twenty-two (22), beginning at a stake in the south line of East Center Street about fifty-eight and one-half (58½) feet east of a stone at intersection of said south line with the west line of land deeded by H. S. Lucas and Carrie A. Galley to J. S. Reed and H. True; thence eastward along the south line of Center Street one hundred (100) feet to the northwest corner of J. J. Hane's land; thence southward along said J. J. Hane's west line two hundred and twenty-nine (229) feet to a stake; thence westward parallel with the south line of Center Street one hundred (100) feet to a stake; thence northward two hundred and twenty-nine (229) feet to the place of beginning, excepting ten (10) feet off of the west side thereof.

The prayer of the petition is that said property be sold to pay the debts and charges of said estate.

The said Wilhelmena Weyand, Beatrice V. Martin and Raymond H. Martin, Maud Gruber and Martin J. Gruber, George W. Thompson and Irene Thompson are hereby notified that they have been made parties defendant to said petition, and that they are required to answer the same on or before the 6th day of June, 1927.

ROLLIN H. THOMPSON,
Administrator of the Estate of Louisa C. Thompson, Deceased.
Harry C. Thompson, His Attorney.

MOTOR, STEEL AND RAIL STOCKS MOVE UPWARD

Aggressive Advance of Speculative Leaders Spreads Confusion to Wall-st Bears

MARKETS AT A GLANCE:

Railroad stocks, irregular; industrials, irregular; domestic bonds, irregular; foreign bonds, firm; call money, 4½ per cent; grain, slightly reactionary; copper, steady; oil, weak; cotton, unsettled; rubber, irregular; sugar, steady; pig iron, steady; foreign exchange, fairly steady.

New York, Apr. 1—An aggressive advance of the speculative leaders in the motor, steel and railroad stocks today spread confusion to the ranks of the bears in the Wall-st district and blocked effectually, for the time being at least, the downward price movements which opened today's irregular session.

Under the lash of the bears in the first period, the railroad, oil and specialty stocks dropped precipitately, and it appeared that the downward movement was again in full swing. An opinion by the commerce commission placing the 1914 basis of cost replacement rather than the current basis in estimating railroad surplus earnings subject to "recapture" under the transportation act, was not taken seriously by the constructive element in Wall-st, and the rail stocks, which declined 1 to 2 1-2 points at the opening, soon recovered their lost ground.

The situation in the oil industry, as revealed today by the drastic cuts in crude oil prices by the Standard of California, was more serious. Cuts in California crude ranged downward from the extreme reduction of $1.36 a barrel, the largest in the history of the industry.

Strength in United States Steel common, which sold up to 168¾, while the New Stock passed above 122, was based on "inside" and investment buying on rumors of a forthcoming extra dividend prior to the annual stockholders meeting.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, etc., Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of the Marion Daily Star, Published Daily Except Sunday, at Marion, Ohio, for April 1, 1927.

State of Ohio, County of Marion, ss.:

Before me, a notary public, in and for the state and county aforesaid, personally appeared Jas. C. Woods, who having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the circulation manager of the Marion Daily Star, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, circulation, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, postal laws and regulations, to-wit:

That the name and addresses of the publisher, editor and business manager are:

Publisher, the Harding Publishing company, Marion, Ohio.

Editor, George H. Van Fleet, Marion, Ohio.

Managing Editor, Murray Powers, Marion, O.

Business Manager, H. R. Schaffner, Marion, Ohio.

That the owners are: The Harding Publishing company, of Marion, Ohio; L. H. Brush, of Salem, Ohio; Roy D. Moore, of Marion, Ohio, and W. H. Vodrey, of East Liverpool, Ohio.

That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders, owning or holding one per cent. or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: None.

That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustees or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest, direct or indirect, in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

That the average number of copies of each issue of this publication sold or distributed, through the mails or otherwise, to paid subscribers during the six months preceding the date shown above is

DAILY AVERAGE 14,222

Jas. C. Woods, Cir. Mgr.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 1st day of April, 1927.

YOUTH PLEADS GUILTY TO BAD CHECK CHARGE

Galen Rhoades, 19, Held to Grand Jury Under Bond of $250

Galen Rhoads, 19, former employe of the Midway Restaurant, E. Center-st, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court today when arraigned on the charge of cashing worthless checks and was bound over to the grand jury under a $250 bond. He is held at the city prison pending efforts to obtain bond.

The affidavit against Rhoads was filed by George Paulson, one of the owners of the Midway Restaurant and attached to the document were two checks, one for $20 and the other for $5, said to have been cashed at the restaurant and returned by the bank marked "insufficient funds."

Last week the young man was taken to police headquarters on complaint regarding the checks and was released on his promise to repay the restaurant owners. This he failed to do, police say, and his arrest followed.

LEGAL NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio.

In the Matter of the Application of The Green Camp Baptist Church of the Village of Green Camp, Ohio, a corporation not for profit, for authority to mortgage church property.

Notice is hereby given that the Trustees of the Green Camp Baptist Church of the Village of Green Camp, Ohio, a corporation not for profit filed its petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio, in Cause No. 19682, praying for authority to mortgage the following described real estate:

Situated in the County of Marion, State of Ohio, and in the Village of Green Camp and bounded and described as follows: Being 35 feet off of the north side of Lot 54, commencing at the northeast corner of said lot; thence running south 35 feet; thence west 99 feet and 6 inches; thence north 35 feet to the north boundary of said lot; thence east 99 feet and 6 inches, to the place of beginning, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways. Said property being known as the parsonage property of said corporation, the parsonage or residence of the Minister of said Church, being located on said real estate and being a part thereof.

Authority to mortgage said real estate is being asked for the reason that said Church finds it necessary to refinance and extend an indebtedness of $4,000.00 now owed by said Church and it is necessary to borrow $4,000.00 to pay on an existing indebtedness and said Church has no way of securing the same to the satisfaction of the mortgagee except by giving a mortgage on said real estate to secure the payment of $4,000.00, and said fund is being borrowed to be used for the benefit of said Church.

Said cause will be for hearing on and after the 18th day of April, 1927.

The Green Camp Baptist Church of the Village of Green Camp, Ohio, a corporation not for profit.

By FLOYD T. UNCAPHER,
Its President of Board of Trustees.
John H. Clark,
Attorney for said petitioner.

OBITUARY

James Strine, son of John and Mary (Monnasmith) Strine, was born in Richland-tp, Marion County, O., on Feb. 5, 1843. He was baptized in infancy.

He was married to Miss Mary Ann Shults, on Oct. 14, 1869. The fruit of this union was a family of five children, as follows: Iva Dell Adams, Mary Etta, James Wellington, John Anson, and Sanford Warren. Also a sister and two brothers, survive: Martin, Mrs. Drake, and Henderson; and two granddaughters.

He united with the St. Joseph's Reformed Church in 1875.

His wife, the companion of his youth, and mature manhood, departed this life on Jan. 21, 1894. His children all survive him, and all are present here today.

After a long, and consistent life, a kind and loving husband, and good father, greatly devoted to his children, who all were also obedient and loving, he departed from them and left them a good example and manifested a glorious hope of a blessed reunion with his companion who preceded him to the happy heavenly home some 33 years ago.

His long lingering illness he endured with a patient Christian fortitude, falling asleep peacefully on March 27, 1927, at the age of 84 years, 1 month and 22 days.

Thanks for sympathy expressed in deeds of kindness and helpfulness. *

CIRCUIT JUDGE DEARTH ACQUITTED BY SENATE

Indiana Jurist Accused of Violating Freedom of Press; Impeachment Asked

Indianapolis, April 1—Circuit Judge Clarence W. Dearth of Muncie, Ind., today was acquitted by the Indiana Senate of all charges of violating the freedom of the press, and of making irregular jury appointments.

The "clean bill" followed an impeachment trial of more than three weeks.

HEARINGS ARE SCHEDULED IN LIQUOR CASES

Six Men Taken in Raids Set To Appear in Local Municipal Court

Hearings were to be held this afternoon in Municipal Court in connection with the arrest of six men who were taken into custody last week in liquor raids at three West Side business places. The raids were made under the direction of F. C. Tracey, officer from the state prohibition department.

The men scheduled for arraignment today were Therf Bartis, 37, Joe Frank, 45, and Sam Farruggio, 52.

Frank and Farruggio faced two charges when taken into custody, one for selling liquor and one for possession. Frank pleaded guilty to possession and paid a $200 fine but entered a not guilty plea to selling. Farruggio pleaded guilty to selling and paid a $700 fine but entered a not guilty plea to possession.

They were to be arraigned this afternoon on the charges to which they pleaded not guilty. Therf Bartis, arrested at the Lincoln Hotel, 461 W. Center-st, is to be tried on a possesion charge. James Juges, proprietor of the hotel, is ill and the date for his hearing has not been fixed.

A total of $1,100 in fines has been collected thus far as a result of the raid. This includes Farruggio's $700, Frank's $200 and a $100 fine paid by Louis Pellegrini, 24, who was used as a decoy in the raids by the state officers.

Farruggio's fine was heavier than the others because records show that this was his second arrest on liquor violation charges.

Color Harmony in Men's Clothes

THE MAN who dresses well is not necessarily he who spends most lavishly. He considers carefully whether the style is becoming to him, and he studies the harmonious blending of colors of his entire outfit.

With this thought in mind, to assist in choosing your spring wardrobe, we have assembled these groups, on an economical basis, yet in good taste.
